'When you are looking from the choir loft it is as though you are looking into the heavens'

Singing with their souls

St. Peter's to host Good Friday Ecumenical Service

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Bringing down the house. The St. Peter's Church Choir seems to know how to stop parishioners in their tracks.

When they lift their voices in praise to a standing-room only crowd each Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m. Mass, parishioners literally stand still and listen in awe.

The voices of Antioch will echo throughout town this weekend as Christians observe Easter.

Four church choirs will come together for a Good Friday Ecumenical Service at St. Peter's Catholic Church. Singing with the members from St. Stephen's Lutheran Church, United Methodist Church, the Antioch Evangelical Free Church and the St. Ignatius of Antioch Episcopal Church. The event begins at noon.

"The combined Good Friday service is a tradition which moves from church to church," said Jeanine Kellman, choir director at St.

Peter's. "This was our year to host."

The service is one of the many musical highlights of Holy Week, the most important religious week to Christians.

"Holy Week is a time that represents both darkness and extreme joy," said Kellman, who has been choir director at St. Peter's for more than 20 years.

"With the choir you are trying to do a balancing act when you choose music," she said. "You want a good piece of music which is appropriate to your church and if you're going to perform it, you have to like it." Kellman says it is also important to choose musical selections which the audience will respond to and enjoy.

In her role as choir director for St. Peter's Kellman works to find music that is appropriate for differing audiences and relevant to the liturgy of the Mass.

"I subscribe to a publishing company from which I obtain the music and I also visit publishing companies in Chicago," Kellman said. The choir director has a bachelor of arts degree in music from Illinois State University. It was during college that she turned to Catholicism as her faith of choice.

"When I went to college I started searching for my faith," she said. "I had some family history in Catholicism and in my early 20s decided to convert to it."

Following graduation from college, Kellman took a teaching job at St. Peter's School and by way of teaching came to be the church choir director.

"It is a job I thoroughly enjoy," Kellman said. "We are truly blessed with a great choir which has been

Easter Parade kicks off Saturday morning

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

The start of Antioch's annual series of community parades begins Saturday with the Easter Parade to Williams Park for the Eggcellent Easter Adventure.

The parade will start at the Antioch Community High School parking lot at 10:30 a.m. and will feature floats, fire trucks, scouts, marchers, and pageant queens representing area communities.

Children ages 1 to 10 who have registered for the egg hunt will be able to search for 10 eggs at the park after the parade.

"We'll get a lot of people registering this week," said Laurie Stahl, parks and recreation director. "Please pre-register at the park office before 5 p.m. on Friday."

The Park and Recreation Department office is at Village Hall, 874 Main Street. There is a $2 fee for each child who participates in the egg hunt.

There is a chance to register on Saturday, too. "We will take registrations before the hunt at the pool office at the Little League Field," Stahl said.

The free parade is expected to feature more than 15 marching units. Those registered to parade include Thelen Sand and Gravel, pageant queens from area communities, State Bank of the Lakes, First National Bank-Employee Owned, The Antioch Fire Department, and five decorated trucks of Girl Scouts.

Lakeland Publishers, who publish the Antioch News, is a co-sponsor of the parade. "They will have a float with the Easter Bunny in a basket," Stahl said.

The Easter Bunny's accommodations and expenses, when in Antioch, are paid by the Antioch Chamber of

State funds for Antioch High School elusive

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

State Board of Education and Capital Development Board officials have ranked Antioch Community High School District 117 near the top of a list of schools in Illinois eligible to receive money for construction project grants.

However, the needs of schools ranked ahead of ACHS are so expensive that it appears unlikely that the initial $30 million of state construction grants will be sufficient to aid ACHS for the fiscal year ending in June.

Dennis Hockney, District superintendent, told Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, and Antioch Chamber of Commerce officials on April 2 that state funds would be helpful for needed school improvements.

The Antioch School Board needs $8 million to pay for its remodernization program. However, that does not include improvements for the fine arts program, new classrooms, and auditorium improvements.

"If we get the additional money, we can do some more things. We've talked about a fine arts wing to relocate our arts rooms (and) an auditorium," Hockney said.

District Business Manager William Ahlers was cautious at the April 2 meeting about expectations for additional money.

"The problem with it is that the state has $30 million to distribute, and they have applications for ($252) million," he said.

Based on the rankings, the district is well positioned to possibly receive funds in fiscal year 1999. There is a second round of applications, however, and the results of that could change the Antioch district ranking.

"There is more money in 1999 available," Ahlers said.

The result is that District 117 officials do not yet have a sense of how the district will benefit from the state construction funding program.

SINGING: St. Peter's choir lifts voices in praise of Easter together for a long time."

Many members of the 32-person choir have been performing together for more than 20 years.

Among the many long-time voices in the choir are Elaine "Ricki" Apostol, John and Gerry Desbines, Nancy Neckerman and Gary Hamlin.

"Many of these people work full-time jobs and have many other commitments, yet, they manage to find their way to choir practice each Thursday," Kellman said. "The choir is truly an amazing group."

"We will work on selections for many months at a time," Kellman said. "Only four choir members can read music, the rest learn their parts. They put a lot of energy and devotion into what they are doing."

For Easter Vigil Saturday night, the choir will perform their most challenging piece to date, "Exultate Deo."

"It is a very difficult piece. We chose it because it starts in darkness and you hear about how God sent Jesus to die and how he is the light of the world."

On Easter Sunday they will perform "And God Cried."

"It is a song which gives me goose bumps every time I hear it," Kellman said. "It emphasizes the trip to Calvary and that Jesus has risen—he is alive. It is a very powerful and moving song."

The St. Peter's Choir often sound as though they are lifting the rooftop, as they sing from the choir loft in the historic church.

"The acoustics in the church are fantastic," Kellman said. "The most beautiful time of day to be singing praises is at sunset. When you are looking from the choir loft it is as though you are looking into the heavens."

ACHS to soon need second campus

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Lindenhurst, Antioch, and Lake Villa business leaders met with Antioch Community High School officials to learn how population and residential growth will effect the school and its current modernization program.

District 117 Superintendent Dennis Hockney and Business Manager William (Bill) Ahlers discussed modernization plans and answered questions about future changes at a luncheon for the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce and the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry on April 2.

Hockney described the two story addition at the north end of the building, the new entrance area to the school, and changes made inside the building to accommodate new students and the educational program.

Hockney said that modernization of the existing building is based on the need to build a first-rate school and educational program for the students who now attend the school. New student population growth, however, will require that a second high school be built at some future date. The high school currently has a 1997-98 school year student population of 1,801. The modernization program will permit the school to educate 2,000 students.

Previously released projections of student population growth suggest that the high school will have 1,847 students in the 1998-99 school year, 2,022 in the 1999-00 school year, and reach a peak of 2,556 in 2004-2005.

"This (modernization project) will accommodate 200 more students. When we get to 2,000 (students), we'll still be fairly comfortable. But, once we get beyond that, we're going to start pushing it again. That's why we've got to think about that second school. Warren has built a second school. Libertyville is about to. We're next," Hockney said.

"We are still looking for a second site," Hockney said in response to a question about where a new school would be built.

"It would be south and east," he said of where a new school may be located. "I say that because that's where the houses are going to be. Most of the development is going to be in that area," he said.

"It would have to be by referendum. We would have to come out and talk to everybody, explain what we are trying to do, how much it would cost, get you involved in the planning, and have your input," he said. "Hopefully, you'll be a friend of education and say 'I will help you build that school.'"

PARADE: Set for Saturday

Commerce and Industry.

After the parade and egg hunt, the Easter Bunny will be at Brans Nut Company, 935 Main Street, near the intersection of Main and Lake Street.

At the egg hunt, children in two age groups will be permitted to hunt for 10 eggs among the few thousand set out. For each age group there will be two eggs on the field that contain a special certificate. It can be traded for a special Easter basket with stuffed animals and toys at the end of the hunt.

"I ordered 5,000 eggs and I had some left over from last year," said Stahl. "Some are filled with prizes and some are with Jelly Bellies™."

The Easter eggs are the size of a large chicken egg. Jelly Belly™ candies were provided to the Village, at a discount, by Brans Nut Company.

"We do each age group by themselves," said Stahl. "We supply a (clear) plastic bag for the eggs."

Friends seek used books for sale

Timed to coincide with spring cleaning, the Antioch Library Friends are requesting donations of used books.

Nancy Brown said they will take all kinds of books: fiction, non-fiction, hard and soft cover. They do not want Reader's Digest condensed books or magazines, however. Books can be dropped off at the library at 757 Main Street. The book sale is May 16 from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The following comments were sent to Bob Silhan, the Village Planning Director, by Marcia Banlike, the Broker/Owner of ERA Stateline Realty. She is referring to the village building inspectors.

"It was a pleasure to work with inspectors that have the knowledge, experience and expertise in the construction trade. During a stressful time of the construction process, the knowledge and helpfulness of Wally (Henning), Gene (Wagner), and Lee (Shannon) made the construction process a pleasure. I wanted to take the opportunity to commend the village on the professionalism and quality of their building inspectors."

Henning does Electrical and Building inspections; Wagner does plumbing and building inspections; and, Shannon does public safety inspections, which are related to fire-prevention requirements. Village Trustee Marvin Oldenburger read the letter at the Village Council meeting Monday, April 6. "It's always a pleasure to get compliments on the work you all do," he said to Silhan.

Antioch Rotary Club is already advertising their Oct. 3 Summer Fun Raffle of a 1999 Harley Davidson 1200 Sportster Custom Motorcycle. There will be only 400 tickets sold at $50 apiece. Tickets are available at First National Bank Employee Owned, State Bank of the Lakes, and at the Advertiser. The drawing will be held at their Pork Chop Barbecue and Auction at St. Peter's Father Hanley Center. The Rotarians boldly promise that: "You May Win!" Someone should call Bob Schneider for me and tell him I'll buy a ticket this year. He was sooooo persistent last year.

Cherry pie did not make the cut at Monday evening's Village Council meeting. The trustees sponsor a July 4 apple pie baking contest at the Antioch celebration of the nation's independence. For a few brief moments, it appeared that they might change to a cherry pie contest, a more logical fruit pie for that time of the year. And, it would be color coordinated. The vote to retain apples was unanimous, but I am tempted to bake Marvin Oldenburger a cherry pie, anyway, for the next village council meeting.

One of the three most important image creating streets in Antioch is beginning to look very fine with fresh green grass, and forsythia and early spring flowers in blossom. First out of the ground are the jonquills at American Hairlines, 1013 Main Street. And another great display is over at Antioch Upper Grade School's entrance. It makes a person begin to look forward to the results of the work of the Village's Beautification Committee.

Audition's for PM&L's "Grease" are Saturday, May 3 from noon to 4 p.m. and Monday, May 4 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. There are roles for three adult males, an adult female, and many teenagers. There are singing and dancing auditions. Mickey Mandel is directing the July 10 to August 2 weekend productions. Linda Hachmeister is choreographer. Further information is available at 847-838-3280.

Emmons students help feed needy

Emmons School Student Council members sponsored a food pantry drive in February.

"All the cans are going to the Antioch Food Pantry," said council member David Schmelzer. "We received about 85 cans."

"This is our first one," he said. "It was mostly run by us. We collected all the food."

The food drive accepted both canned goods and non-perishable food items.

Student Council President Ben Koron recently received a thank you letter for the donation.

"He took (the donations) to the food pantry," Schmelzer said.

The letter noted that contributions at this time of the year are needed, not just donations during the holiday season.

One idea the Student Council used to obtain contributions was the offer of a free night of fun for a can of food.

"Whoever brought in a can could have a free night of fun," Schmelzer said. The night of fun allowed students to use the school gymnasium.

Other Emmons Student Council members involved in the food drive include: Kara Korom, Julie Rhode, Chris Kocinski, Jenny Jones, Kerry McMinamin, Kyle Moncelle, Robby Ryan, Taylor Groth, Lauren Cole, and Matt Rhode.

"We wanted to help the community," Schmelzer said of the council's efforts.

Camp registration begins

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Summer Day Camp registration begins Saturday, April 18 from 9 a.m. to noon for residents of the village and Antioch Township at Village Hall, 874 Main Street.

The summer day camp is for children 4 to 12 years old and begins when District 34 children are released for the summer.

SummerCamp is from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Scout House near Williams Park.

Camp cost for Antioch residents is $90 a week or $20 a day. Antioch Township resident cost is $105 a week or $23 per day. The cost for all others is $115 a week and $25 per day.

"Open registration begins on April 20," said Laurie Stahl, parks and recreation director. Open registration is for people who do not live in the village or the township.

"We take 70 kids," she said, so interested people are encouraged to register early.

Summer day camp seeks to provide recreational activities in a supervised environment, according to Stahl. Children must bring a lunch, swimming suit and towel, and a sunscreen. Camp fees include a free pool pass.

Amanda Wilson is the Director of summer day camp. She is a student at Eastern University in Charleston, Ill. Wilson is working on a degree in elementary education.

The assistant director of the camp is Betsy Wells.

ANTIOCH

Charged with DUI

Antioch Police Officers stopped Gillis E. Halcomb, 65, of Antioch, on March 31, at 1:46 a.m. east bound from Route 83 onto Route 173 in a blue 1987 Nissan pick-up truck. He was charged with DUI and agreed to take a breathalyzer test (0.26). Halcomb was released on his own recognizance pending a court date of April 21 in Waukegan.

Antioch Police Officers also stopped Robert P. Calvert, 47, of Salem, Wis., traveling north bound on Route 83 near Williams Park in a white 1988 Ford Escort. He was charged with DUI.

Arrested on warrants

Antioch Police Officers stopped Richard K. Leukhardt, 41, of Antioch, on April 1, at 5:49 p.m. east bound on Lake Street at Spafford Street in a black 1988 Lincoln. He was charged with operation of a vehicle with an expired registration sticker and not having a valid license. He posted proper bond pending a court date of May 27 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake. Leukhardt was also determined to be wanted on a warrant for contempt of court by the McHenry County Sheriff's Department. He was released on proper bond pending an April 15 court date at 9 a.m. in Woodstock, Ill. in McHenry County.

Antioch Police Officers stopped Carla Jean T. Bond, 31, of Milwaukee, Wis., on April 2, at 7:31 p.m. in the 200 block of Anita Terrace in a gray 1986 Plymouth. She was wanted for warrants related to forgery, phone harassment, and violation of a protection bond. Bond was unable to secure bond so she was transported to the Lake County jail at 8:45 p.m.

Arrested for possession of cannabis

Antioch Police Officers stopped Brian T. Mazur, 17, of Antioch, on April 5 at 11:45 a.m. traveling east bound on Route 173 and turning north onto Tiffany Road in a blue 1985 Oldsmobile. He was charged with failure to signal, no valid drivers license, and unlawful possession of cannabis. Mazur was released on personal recognizance pending a court date on April 22 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan.

LAKE VILLA

Charged with cannabis possession

Lake Villa Police Officers stopped Michael S. Kelly, 21, of Round Lake Beach, on April 4 at 3:02 a.m. in the south west corner of the Grand Tracks Saloon parking lot in a red 1978 Chevrolet Caprice. He was charged with possession of cannabis. He was released on $75 bond pending a court date of May 13 at 3 p.m. in Grayslake.

Possession of tobacco, alcohol by minor

Lake Villa Police Officers stopped Justin R. Simonitsch, 17, of Lake Villa, on March 31 at 10:33 p.m. traveling east bound on Grand Avenue near Deep Lake Road in a black 1992 Ford Escort hatchback. He was charged with possession of tobacco by a minor and possession of alcohol by a minor. He was assigned a court date of May 13 at 3 p.m. in Grayslake.

In possession of cannabis

Lake Villa Police Officers stopped Alexander David Chlewicki, 22, of Round Lake Beach, on March 31 at 12:30 a.m. traveling west bound on Grand Avenue at Oak Knoll Drive in a red soft-top 1995 Jeep CJ. He was charged with possession of cannabis, speeding, and having a suspended drivers license. Chlewicki was assigned a court date of May 13 at 3 p.m. in Grayslake.

Lake Villa Police Officers also stopped Cinda McConnell, 34, of Lake Villa, on March 28 at 12:14 a.m. traveling west bound on Grand Avenue at Oak Knoll in a red 1986 Pontiac Fiero. She was charged with possession of cannabis, improper use of registration, and operating an uninsured vehicle. She was released pending a court date of May 13 at 3 p.m. in Grayslake.

LINDENHURST

In possession of drug paraphernalia

Lindenhurst Police Officers stopped Jasson A. Chesson, 19, of Lindenhurst, on April 1 at 1:50 a.m. traveling at Old Elm Road and Valley Drive in a blue van. He was charged with minor consumption of alcohol (0.08) and possession of drug paraphernalia. He was released on $75 bond pending a court date of May 6 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake.

Charged with DUI

Lindenhurst Police Officers stopped Robert L. Sharp, 43, Zion, on April 3 at 12:30 a.m. on Millburn Road west of Millburn School in a white van. He was charged with improper turning, improper lane use, no insurance, and DUI-alcohol. He declined the opportunity to take a breathalyzer test. Sharp was released on bond pending a court date of April 28 in Waukegan.

Charged with open transport of alcohol

Lindenhurst Police Officers stopped Michael D. Connor, 22, of Lake Villa, on April 4 at 9:15 p.m. traveling west bound on Grass Lake Road at Federal Parkway in a black 1983 Buick. He was charged with one headlight not working, no insurance, open transportation of alcohol, and driving while license suspended. Connor was released on bond pending a court date on May 6 at 9 a.m. in Grayslake.

Rte. 173 underpass possible in 2010

There are plans to construct an underpass of the Wisconsin Central Railroad tracks on Route 173 by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Construction of an underpass would be for vehicle and pedestrian use.

"IDOT has a plan that calls for a grade separation at that site," said Dennis Hockney, Dist. 117 superintendent. "The timing on that right now is that it won't happen until 2010."

Hockney mentioned the plans at a luncheon presentation of high school modernization plans to the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce in the school cafeteria.

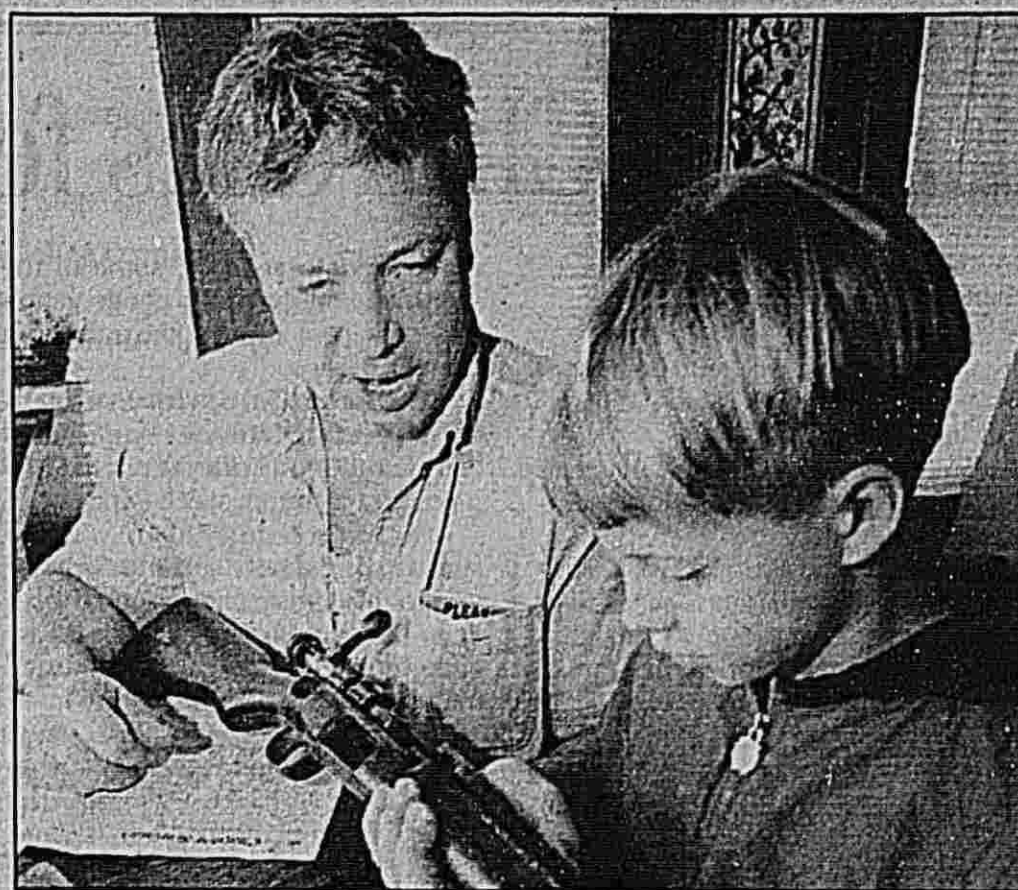

"It's a grade separation where the road will go under the railroad track. That's the plan. The (grade separation) they did most recently was on Lake-Cook Road. It's a big undertaking," he said.—by Kenneth Patchen

Antioch Chamber donates to ACHS scholarship fund

The Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry presented a financial contribution to Antioch Community High School at their luncheon meeting of April 2.

"We'd like to take this opportunity to present the high school with $1,000 for the scholarship fund," said Barbara Porch, chamber president. She gave the check to District 117 Superintendent Dennis Hockney.

The presentation was made at a joint meeting of the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce and the Antioch Chamber in the cafeteria of the high school. The meeting was attended by 51 members and guests.

Easter: Churches feature several special services

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

April's second weekend holds special significance to Christians and Jews throughout the world.

In Antioch, local Christians celebrate with services, vigils, and remembrance of Jesus Christ's crucifixion, probably April 3, on a cross on Golgotha, a knoll near the Damascus Gate in Jerusalem.

Sundown, April 10, is the start of Passover for Jews.

Observance of Good Friday, Holy Saturday, and Easter Sunday features special services. There is an ecumenical service of five churches at noon on Good Friday at St. Peter Church, 557 Lake Street. Some congregations will have Tenebrae Services. There are vigils of fasting and remembrance, sunrise church services, and musical or dramatic presentations.

Members of Antioch Evangelical Free Church, 750 Highview Drive, will participate in the Good Friday ecumenical service at noon hosted this year by St. Peter Church.

Later, at 7:30 p.m., the church will have a communion service for Good Friday. Members of the congregation will be able to bring forward to the cross, pieces of paper with their names written on them. This symbolically represents, to the beneficial recipients, the meaning of why Jesus Christ died on the cross for them.

There is a Saturday evening service at 5:30 p.m.

On Easter Sunday, the congregation will have services at 8:30 and 11 a.m. At both services, some of the youth and adults of the congregation will present a drama illustrating an Easter message.

The Beautiful Savior Evangelical Lutheran Church congregation will have a Good Friday service at 7:30 p.m. at their church at 554 Parkway.

On Easter Sunday, there will be a sunrise song service at 7 a.m. The service is both music and scripture readings. The church will have an 8 a.m. open breakfast to which interested members of the community are invited.

At 9 a.m. there is a Festival Worship service with special music presented by some of the congregation's musicians. The Children's Choir will also sing. The sermon by Pastor Darald Gruen is taken from John 20:15 and is titled, "Woman, why are you crying?"

Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church, 23201 West Grass Lake Road, celebrates the week with five services. Holy Week and Passion Week are two terms for this most important series of days of remembrance for Christians. It is described as a week for Christians that is as important as Passover is for Jews. For Christians, it is a week of salvation.

The congregation comes together for their Good Friday service at 7 p.m. The lesson is "Revealing God's Mercy" from Luke 23:26-49. The Friday evening service falls within a period of fasting that begins at noon on Friday and continues to noon on Saturday.

There is a prayer service at 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Sunday morning begins with a 6 a.m. sunrise service led by the youth of the congregation. It is followed at 7 a.m. by a breakfast fundraiser for youth activities within the Community Bible Church. Those who wish to attend breakfast are asked to sign-up.

Regular Sunday services are at 9 and 11 a.m. There is a Sunday School period at 9 a.m. and a Children's Church at 11 a.m. The lesson for the Easter Sunday services is taken from Luke 13, "Revealing God's Love."

The Christian Life Fellowship Assembly of God Church, 41625 North Deep Lake Road, will celebrate a Good Friday service at 7 p.m. and Pastor Jeff Brussaly will deliver a sermon, "Our Suffering Savior."

The Easter Sunday service at 10 a.m. will feature a Cantata. This will be music by the Church Choir and include congregational singing.

The Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church, 1275 South Main Street, will have their Good Friday service at 3:05 p.m. There will be a Tenebrae Service at 7 p.m. that evening.

On Easter Sunday, there is a sunrise service at 6 a.m. There will be an Easter Sunday festival service at 8 and 10:30 a.m. The public is welcome to attend any or all of these services.

Lighthouse will have their Good Friday service at 7 p.m. at their church at 554 Parkway. This is a contemporary worship congregation based on Baptist theology. The Pastors are Jorge Zayas-bazan and Tom Bartmer.

On Saturday evening, the service will be at 6 p.m. It is a service titled "Worship Musical: My Utmost for his Highest." This will feature a choir of the Lake County Baptist Association of which some members of this congregation are members.

The Easter Sunrise Service is at 6:30 a.m. at Bayview Park in the Fox Lake Hills subdivision of Lake Villa Township.

For the congregation of St. Ignatius of Antioch Episcopal Church, 977 Main Street, Friday morning at 6 a.m. ends their prayer vigil that began Maundy Thursday evening. Members of the congregation were invited to maintain a prayer vigil at their Altar of Repose in the social hall. It is in memory of Jesus Christ's request of friends in the Garden of Gethsemane, "Could you not watch for one hour?"

Members of St. Ignatius will participate in a noon ecumenical service on Good Friday hosted this year by St. Peter Church.

Rev. Vincent J. Eckholm will celebrate a Mass of the Pre-sanctified at 7 p.m. on Good Friday. It is a service of penitential litanies, prayers, veneration of the cross, and communion.

Holy Saturday brings Ignatians together at 8 p.m. for their first solemn service of Easter, the First Mass of the Resurrection. It is described as a deeply dramatic worship service by Eckholm. The service begins in darkness. Candles held by congregants are lit from the Paschal Candle. Baptismal vows are renewed. Only then is the Church fully illuminated. After the service, there is a special reception for all hosted by the Vestry and others.

There will be a 10 a.m. Easter Sunday Mass. It is the final element of significant events for the congregation that began with Palm Sunday, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday, and Holy Saturday.

There is a noon ecumenical service on Good Friday at St. Peter Church, 557 Lake Street. This is a religious service with a choir presentation. Churches which participate in the annual gathering include: St. Stephen Lutheran Church, United Methodist Church of Antioch, St. Ignatius of Antioch Episcopal Church, Antioch Evangelical Free Church.

St. Peter Church will conduct the Solemn Liturgy of the Lord's Passion and Death at 3 p.m. During the evening, at 7:30 p.m., begins an evening religious service for the Stations of the Cross. Prayers are said at the stations.

Holy Saturday at St. Peter Church includes two services. At 2 p.m. there is a blessing of the Easter Baskets. Members of the congregation bring baskets, which may contain food items, to the church for a blessing. The Easter Vigil Mass begins at 7:30 p.m. and is approximately two hours long. Candidates for Baptism, communion, and confirmation are brought into the church at this service.

There are seven celebrations of Easter Sunday Mass divided between two locations. The Mass is said in the church at 6:30, 8:30, and 11 a.m. The service at 12:15 p.m. is the only service presented in Latin. There is another Easter Mass presented in the Hanley Center at 8:30, and 11 a.m.

Members of St. Stephen Lutheran Church, 1155 Hillside Avenue, will participate in a noon ecumenical service on Good Friday hosted this year by St. Peter Church.

At 7:30 p.m., the church will celebrate Good Friday Tenebrae—The Service of Shadows. This is an annual service of the congregation. It will focus on the seven last words of Jesus Christ spoken from the cross.

Easter Sunday is celebrated by Robert Trendel, the interim pastor, with three Holy Communion services. They are at 8, 9:15, and 10:30 a.m. The Waukegan Orchestra's Bass Quintet will provide special music at the 8 and 10:30 a.m. services.

An Easter morning mini-breakfast of coffee, juice, dyed Easter eggs, coffee cakes, and rolls will be served from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Members of the United Methodist Church of Antioch, 848 Main Street, will participate in the noon ecumenical service on Good Friday hosted this year by St. Peter Church.

In the evening of Good Friday, at 7:30 p.m., there will be a Service of Tenebrae. It is also known as the Service of Darkness and seeks to communicate the somberness and loss of Jesus Christ on Good Friday. There is a distinct liturgy for the service. The congregation has candles which are extinguished, in sequence, as the names of 12 disciples are read during the course of the service. At the end, the church and congregation are in darkness to symbolize that Jesus Christ was alone. People leave the church and service in silence, in the dark, into the darkness of the evening.

On Easter Sunday there will be an 8:30 and 10 a.m. service. Pastor Kurt Gamlin will preach a sermon, "Reversing the Irreversible." During the 10 a.m. service, there will be a special activity for children.

NEIGHBORS

Name: Jacque Rognstad

Home: Antioch

Occupation: Athletic Director at Grass Lake School

I graduated from: Notre Dame High School for Girls in Chicago.

My family consists of: Husband Mark, daughter Michelle Gielow, 15, Nicole Rognstad, 14, Kerri Rognstad, 12, Kirsten Rognstad, 9, and Danielle Rognstad, 2 and-a-half.

Our pets are: Tyson, 3, a boxer, and a tarantula. Her name is Rosie, and she is 5.

What I like best about Antioch: I like the smallness of the town. I love the country. I like the small school system.

What I like best about my job: I enjoy helping the kids gain self-confidence by working to build the teams with lots of practice, lots of encouragement. Our teams with Brian Dembinski and Ken Bloom did very well in conference games for the first time in a long time. There's no amount of money to replace my feelings about the girls winning those games and gaining self-confidence and what it's like to be on a positive team experience.

The secret to my success is: Positive attitude.

I relax by: I don't. But, I like to relax in a hot tub if I can.

My perfect day in Antioch would be: If most parents took initiative to share their kid's interests.

Last book I read: My Party-Lite catalogue.

Favorite video is: "Up Close and Personal" with Robert Redford and Michelle Pfeiffer

Favorite music: Garth Brooks, Celine Dionne

If I won the lottery, I would: Pay-off all of my family's houses and then take-off to other countries. We'd like to invest some of it wisely.

My greatest accomplishments are: My Athletic Director position at Grass Lake School. We showed the kids a lot of things.

I want to be remembered as: A good-hearted person.

People who knew me in high school would say: That I was a goof ball, laughed too loud; but, they would say I was a fun-loving person.

My pet peeve is: When I am lied to.

Most interesting person I ever met was: Mr. John Lawler. He was our gym teacher in St. Viator Grammar School. He taught us skills in the sport, and how to win and lose gracefully. He taught us to work together as a team. This is something you use all your life. I admire him for that, and that was some 20 years ago. That's what I try to give the children today.

If I could meet anyone, I would meet: Arnold Schwarzenegger. I've always like him and the things he stood for.

My dream job would be: Where everyone gets along and everyone can work for the same goal together.

If I had a plane ticket to anywhere, I would go to: Me and my husband would go to the Caribbean, where it is secluded, to relax and drink Piña Coladas. No tourists.

If you have a "Neighbor" that you would like to see profiled in this column, call Rhonda Hetrick Burke at 223-8161.

Talking Health

MORE THAN JUST A BAD BACK

Many people think of chiropractors as "bad back" specialists and don't realize that chiropractic is a complete system of health care which can successfully treat a variety of disorders. A pinched nerve that causes pain or muscle weakness might send you running to the chiropractor; however, you are probably less likely to think of a chiropractor when you are seeking treatment for headaches, asthma, or heartburn. Nerves that are pinched, or whose functions are inhibited in some way, may contribute to these kinds of problems.

Chiropractors assume a holistic view of the body and the treatment of organic disease. They understand the connection between disturbances in the musculo-skeletal structure and nervous system disorders. A problem with one organ or function can affect other organs and chiropractors utilize a variety of treatments to deal with such disorders.

If maintaining your health and reducing stress is important to you, call Round Lake Beach Chiropractic at 847-740-2800 to make an initial, no obligation consultation with Dr. Scott G. Reiser. Dr. Reiser has served the Lake and McHenry County area for over 10 years. Let his knowledge and experience serve you. Dr. Reiser's clinic is located at 314 Rollins Road, Round Lake Beach (Eagle Creek Plaza - corner of Cedar Lake and Rollins Roads.)

It's hard to be good on 'Good Friday'

Being Catholic has never really been a burden for me. As a child I was never cracked across the knuckles by any ruler-yielding nuns or threatened with the "fires of hell" after misbehaving. As an adult I never minded going to Church every Sunday even after the reality of the fact that none of my body parts would fall off or malfunction had I missed an occasional Sunday or two. I never really had a problem with not being allowed to eat meat on Friday's during Lent. However, this Ash Wednesday and Good Friday fasting requirement does cause a slight problem—well, actually it causes some major problems.

On any other normal routine day I barely even give food a passing glance. I can go days without eating a real meal (consuming the remains of a child's lunch standing at the kitchen counter does not constitute a meal in my book), but you throw Ash Wednesday and Good Friday in my face and I turn into a drooling lunatic—even brussel sprouts look appetizing. It is not a pretty sight one would witness had they happen upon the Pringle resident on either of these two days. I know it's all mind over matter, but my mind can't get over the thought of all that matter.

I can't venture past the kitchen without grazing through the refrigerator. Every crumb in the toaster, every morsel on the bottom of the refrigerator beckons to me. You know that gunk that clings to the blade of your electric can opener? I find myself thinking "how bad can that possibly taste with a little ketchup on it?" I avoid the kitchen as if the Bubonic Plague was being harvested there. I am of weak will-power, I know one step on that Congoleum floor would be the first step down the path to the devil's playground. I am ashamed of the fact that on Ash Wednesday I actually stayed up until midnight (which brought me into the wee hours of Thursday thereby rendering Wednesday over) so I could eat something—do I see some material here for the confessional.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

So now, here it is Good Friday and you can all be assured, late tonight, after Letterman has signed off and you are preparing to turn in for a good night sleep, Jingle here will be sitting on my stepstool in front of the refrigerator, in my bathrobe and fuzzy duck slippers, with fork and knife in hand, waiting for the kitchen clock to register midnight. I can guarantee if you decide to call me about that time with a tidbit, be prepared to leave a message as the phone will go unanswered—I will be much too busy for whatever scraps may happen to be sitting within reach of my gobble. Happy Easter everyone—hope the Easter Bunny is good to you all.

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

'Jesus Reigns' in Calvary production

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Forty parishioners will present an Easter production of "Jesus Reigns" on Saturday, April 11 at 7 p.m. and Sunday, April 12 at 10 a.m. in the sanctuary of Calvary Christian Center.

The production depicts Crucifixion and Resurrection events.

It is open to the public. Cost free tickets are required to assure seating. In past years, the audience for the two productions has been estimated at 600 persons.

It is a dramatic musical production that features the Sanctuary Choir.

"It is one of the few Easter cantata presentations given in Lake County," said Joan Kruger, promotions secretary. "It's a beautiful thing to see."

"It does depict the Triumphal March when they march into Jerusalem, the Crucifixion, and the resurrection of Jesus Christ," she said. "It's done very professionally."

"The choir are all in Bible-era costume."

The role of Jesus Christ will be played by John Skrypnik. "He is just perfect for the part," Kruger said.

This will be the third time he has portrayed Christ in the church production.

"It's directed by Music Minister Trent Cowart and assistant Rebecca Holcomb," Kruger said.

Pastor William A. Kruger will be presenting a special Easter message, "Is There Life After Birth?"

Supervised nursery care for children through their fifth year will be available.

Calvary Christian Center is at 134 Monaville Road.

Pre-Season All-Lakeland Teams selected

This week, we here in the sports department selected our Pre-Season All-Lakeland Baseball and Softball Teams. Heading the baseball team is Libertyville's Lukas McKnight. Quite simply, he is the best player on the state's best pre-season team. Included on the first team are Brian Horner, Warren; Justin Henry, Warren; Mike Kaywood, Carmel; Matt Hansen, Libertyville; Eros Spaw, Grayslake; Greg Crandall, Grant; Mike Ward, Libertyville; and Kevin Shipbaugh, Wauconda.

The Pre-Season All-Lakeland Softball team is lead by Mundelein's Gina Pasquesi. She is joined by fellow first-teamers Kathy Huntington, Warren; Laura Mendralla, Grayslake; Nicole Langley, Antioch; Shannah Jaburek, Antioch; Melissa Hersted, Mundelein; Gina Zavala, Carmel; Kim Hofert, Mundelein; and Katie Aldridge, Warren.

For the complete list of All-Lakeland Teams, including honorable mentions, see page C15 in the County section of this paper.

The Bonnie Brook Women's 9-Hole Golf League is seeking new members. The season runs from early May through September. Membership dues are $20.00 plus green fees. Limited tee times are available, so call 244-5564 to reserve your spot.

The Grayslake Rams Athletic Booster Club will be awarding four $150 scholarships for summer sports camp to two boys and two girls who are currently freshmen, sophomores or juniors and involved in athletic programs at Grayslake High School. These scholarships are for outside camps, not the summer camps offered by the high school. If you are interested in applying for this scholarship, you may pick up an application at the high school in the athletic director's office. The deadline is April 24, 1998.

COLLEGE CORNER

Patrick Thompson, a graduate of Libertyville, is a sophomore designated hitter for the Northwestern Wildcats' baseball team. He currently ranks sixth in the league in RBIs (19), is third on the team in hitting (.397), and was a third-team All-Conference selection last year as a DH.

Katie Peterson, a graduate and former softball standout at Libertyville High School, is a member of the 1998 Luther College softball team and will play infield for the Norse.

Jim Forsythe, of Grayslake, is a member of the Suffolk University hockey team. As a junior last year, he played goalie for the Rams, and is also a member of the baseball team for Suffolk, located in the heart of Boston, Mass.

Valkman wins state championship

By BRENDAN O'NEILL
Sports Editor

Girls all across the country grow up watching the Olympic gymnasts tumble to glory as they represent their country. They grow up emulating Mary Lou Retton, Shannon Miller and Dominique Mochiano.

Laura Valkman is one of those girls, and she is well on her way to becoming one of the household names that other girls will be emulating and idolizing. On March 28 and 29, Valkman won the all-around in the Junior Olympic level six at the 1998 Illinois State Gymnastics Competition.

Valkman, a nine-year-old from Wauconda, competes and trains at the Gymnastics Factory in Grayslake and was the state champ in three other events in addition to her all-around title.

She scored a 9.5 on vault, 9.3 on floor, and 9.55 on beam. Valkman's score in the all-around was 36.5 to tie for the title.

Valkman said that she enjoys gymnastics and likes to compete, and her success might be attributed as much to her natural ability as hard work.

"It's fun. The vault is my best event because it's easy," said Valkman.

She does have an event that she doesn't like as well as the others.

"The bars—because I fell at state."

Valkman has been training at the Gymnastics Factory for the past seven years, and said her goal is to reach the Olympics.

"I want to go the Olympics," Valkman said. "My favorite (gymnast) is Dominique Mochiano."

Laura's mother, Bonnie, said Laura is a tough competitor and really works hard both on and off the mat.

"She fought hard and clawed her way back to reach the top," said Bonnie. "She really works hard (2 1/2 hours a day in the gym) and she's a straight-A student."

Laura Valkman, though still young at the tender age of nine, realizes the benefit of having good coaches at the Gymnastics Factory, and she knows that without their help, she could not have earned 28 gold medals this year.

"I like them all," said Valkman of coaches Mario and Dana Nogues, Liebe Pflug, Karen Tilton and Raul Rendon. "They really help me with my conditioning and make me stronger."

Valkman is looking forward to next year, where she will be competing at the level seven division, and hopefully bringing home more medals and awards.

Laura Valkman has won 28 gold medals this year, and recently walked away with the all-around title at the Illinois State Gymnastics Meet. Valkman is a Wauconda resident, and trains at the Gymnastics Factory in Grayslake.—Submitted photo

Hughes, Antioch enjoy fast 5-0 start

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Reggie Hughes is, simply put, in a hitting groove.

He hit three home runs as Antioch enjoyed one of its better starts ever with a 5-0 mark. Antioch's latest victims were a 6-0 win over Wauconda and a 11-4, 8-7 sweep of Carmel.

"So far, I am satisfied with the way I have been hitting. We are just hitting the ball real well now," said Hughes.

Healthy Sequoits ready for softball challenges

Antioch High girls softball team may be a bit healthier when it returns to action after taking a week off for spring break.

Pitcher Kristin Scopel is expected to be recovered from a shoulder injury; catcher Megs Kotlarz from an illness and Nicole Langley will be back at first base.

"The one fact that I saw was our defense. In a six-inning game against Pekin, we did not make any errors. That is a promising sign," said ACHS coach Steve Wapon.

The infield of Melissa Bock at third, Shannah Jaburek at short and Kristin Lynch or Kristin Curran at second turn in a flawless effort.

"I am also happy with the way the juniors and sophomores are mixing with the seniors," said Wapon.

Antioch rallied for a 3-1 lead against Pekin before a power outage stopped the game after six innings.

ACHS (0-3-1) has a busy week back in a routine after spring break. They are at Carmel April 13. They also battled McHenry last week.

They host Round Lake April 18 in a doubleheader.

Hughes handled his chores behind the plate flawlessly, in the doubleheader sweep of Carmel, on a windy Saturday. He caught the strong pitching of Karl Richter in game one and a trio of hurlers in game two.

"Karl did well the first six innings in keeping his pitches down and getting ground-ball outs," said Hughes.

"Reggie and Chris Groth have been hitting the ball real well at the plate. Reggie has a nice swing," said ACHS coach Paul Petty.

Hughes' totals for game one were three hits, four RBIs and a walk. He had two hits and a walk in game two as Antioch rallied with four runs in its final two at-bats.

"If we don't make mental mistakes, mistakes happen when you are not ready to play. Him and Groth are good hitters. Good hitters get hits and they are supposed to. But if they do not come up to bat an extra time or two because we make better plays, then they don't hurt us as much," said CHS coach Chuck Gandolfi.

Carmel won back-to-back doubleheaders over Waukegan and Deerfield before the Saturday losses.

Like the realistic Cubs' faithful,

Petty is trying to keep things at an even keel, saying the Sequoits have a lot to work on after five games.

Petty praised his team's aggressiveness.

"Before, we would be on the receiving end of that," said Petty.

Antioch, in game one, a single and a walk proceeded Hughes' first-inning blast, to left field. Groth answered with a four-bagger in the third for a 4-0 lead.

Three straight singles, a Carmel error, and a fielder's choice play blossomed to four runs after Carmel had closed the gap. ACHS added single tallies in the final two innings.

Game two appeared to be headed to a Carmel split after a 6-3 lead after four and one-half innings.

Chris Shaffer had two doubles and a walk, Steve Weidner a double; Jerry McMahon a single, walk and stolen base; Greg Moore a key RBI double.

Carmel's offense was hot if the weather was not on Friday in an 8-2, 13-6 sweep of Waukegan. The opener featured another Carmel comeback. Jerry McMahon led the second game with a 2 of 2 day with two doubles.

BASEBALL TIP OF THE WEEK

This week's tip: Balance

Balance is very important, both in baseball and softball, to be a successful high average hitter. A hitter needs to be consistently balanced for the beginning of the swing (stance), and through the rest of the swing hit or miss. To find out if you have a balanced swing test yourself. Take a hard practice swing and freeze at the end. If you stand still without falling off balance that is a great start in being a consistent hitter.

Tip of the week submitted by Tim

To fix the balance problem, it starts with the feet. After you freeze, the front foot is flat on the ground and the toes are not pointing toward the pitcher. The back foot should have the heel pointing toward the sky and the shoelaces toward the pitcher. Start your practice swings in slow motion to fix the problem. Once you can start swing-

Last week's stats: Hit three home runs as Antioch won three games for 5-0 start to season.

ACHS freshman duo make favorable debut

A mix of senior steadiness and freshmen enthusiasm shaped the first week of Antioch High's boys tennis season.

J.J. Edwards provided the senior leadership while freshmen doubles team of Jason Love and Mike Baba combined for a key win at the Wheeling tournament.

ACHS finished third at the Wheeling meet, with the freshmen's win in doubles making the difference between third and fourth.

"The freshmen came up big for Antioch. Their match the deciding factor for third place. Antioch and Waukegan were tied with three wins apiece, but Antioch beat Waukegan head to head. Due to the fact they were the last to finish, the freshmen get the credit," said ACHS coach Bryan Plinske.

"We were a little short-handed and was looking for matches for experience," said Plinske.

The brothers doubles team, of senior Sebastian and sophomore Santi Andino, was 1-2 at No. 1 doubles. They notched their win over Waukegan in straight sets.

Joe Kohler, a junior, won a 6-4, 6-1 win over Waukegan, Antioch's first win of the year.

Senior Andrew Dohrmann was 0-3 at No. 1 singles, but he is just getting his tennis legs after a long and successful basketball season. Senior Kevin Ward also had a tough go of it, losing three times at No. 2 singles.

Edwards provided Antioch with its lone win in a 4-1 loss to Woodstock on Monday at No. 1 singles. He outlasted Zach Austin 0-6, 7-6 (8-6), 6-3.

"J.J. is really coming along. He was overpowering. He also found his opponent's weaknesses with the backhand," said Plinske.

Dohrmann lost in straight sets at No. 2 singles.

Senior Erik Lips and Jason Love lost at first doubles 1-6, 2-6. The Andinos brothers lost at second doubles 6-3, 6-3. Kohler and Elliot Kesling lost 6-0, 6-3 at third doubles.

ACHS battles McHenry away April 13. Zion-Benton looms as the first North Suburban Conference meet April 16.

ACHS boys track gain experience

The youth on Antioch High's boys track and field team was served a big helping of experience at the Leyden meet on Saturday.

The Sequoias came home with a respectable fifth place finish with 86 points.

"That was not bad. The underclass kids got us a lot of points," said ACHS coach Norm Hahn.

Many of the events featured combined scores.

In the discus, ACHS finished first as Brian Potter, Jason Jenison, Steve Liddle and Jeff Giernoth had a combined 404 feet.

ACHS secured numerous seconds, including the shot put. Jessie Berry replaced Liddle in the four-man rotation in an effort of 151.04.

The 400 relay team was second comprised of senior Brian Terryberry, junior Harry Glinos, junior Jon Watters and junior Adam Podstawa.

"They just got nipped at the finish," said Hahn.

tors running 100, 100, 200 and 400 meters. The effort was good for 143.9.

The high jump contingent took second place. Sophomore Don Lackey, Lee Morrison, Kyle Shouse and Dave Rotsch had a combined 20-10.

The high hurdle relay was third with Tony Casapao, Erick Sinkovec, Rotsch and Terryberry with a 119.0.

ACHS battled Woodstock before opening the North Suburban Conference portion hosting Zion-Benton and North Chicago April 14.

Rams' Kane hits first dinger of early season

Grayslake catcher Joe Kane hit his first home run of the season to account for the Rams lone run in a lop-sided loss to Palatine.

Kane's homer closed the gap to 2-1 in favor of the Pirates. After that, it was all Palatine in a 13-1 win in non-conference play.

"Joe has hit the ball well. I am very happy for him. He swings at the ball and hits it hard. I would not be surprised if he does it again. He is a big, strong kid," said Rams coach Sean Ferrell.

Kane's hit stopped a no-hit bid. He is a senior.

"They put the pressure on us after that. But I am not disappointed. We played hard and they were just better than us. As long as we are not going backwards, I am pleased. We have a lot of inexperienced kids," said Ferrell.

Adam Bergin suffered the loss on the mound in the five-inning game. The Rams bounced back on Monday to record their first win of the year. Dave Weber had seven strikeouts in the 8-5 win as the starter picked up the victory over Palatine.

He had an RBI double in a three-run third inning. Alex Frank was 3 for 3 and Kane was 2 for 2 with 2 RBI.

The Rams (1-2) have a busy week, capped off by an April 9 game at unbeaten Warren and a doubleheader April 11 at Buffalo Grove. They also played Deerfield April 8.

Rams softballers fall in season opener

Grayslake High softball coach Phil Mendralla liked what he saw in terms of defense and intensity in the season opener.

The result, though, was not to the Rams liking as Lake Forest squeaked out a 3-1 win on Monday.

"We had the tying runs on base in the seventh inning. Both pitchers did very well. Our defense was fantastic. We did not make an error," said Mendralla.

The Rams scored their run in the sixth inning. Junior Bobbie Rivelli tripled for an RBI, scoring Bri Richter, who had walked.

Rams pitcher Allison Losik kept the Scouts off guard most of the day. The Scouts managed only three hits. "She was very consistent," said Mendralla.

The seventh inning rally included a walk by Carrie Hovic and a Rivelli single.

"We are just looking for consistency," said Mendralla.

The Rams are at Highland Park for a doubleheader April 11. Crystal Lake Central visits for a Fox Valley Conference clash April 15.

Local anglers win team walleye tournament

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

The Chain Walleye Series (CWS), hosted by Steitz's Resort in Antioch, held its first team walleye tournament on Sunday, April 5, on the Chain O' Lakes with great success. CWS is a new team walleye tournament series this year, consisting of seven qualifying events throughout the year, all being hosted by Steitz's Resort, and directed by Tammy and Scott Duncan.

A total of 32 teams participated in the first tournament of the CWS. Twenty-one of the 32 teams weighed in at least one walleye. A total of 58 walleye were caught by the anglers, all between a length of 14" to 18", at a total weight of 70.87 pounds. The Chain O' Lakes has a protected slot limit of 18" to 24", which means any walleye caught within this range must be returned to the water. All 58 walleye survived and were released back into the water after the weighing.

First place went to John Roscop of Antioch and Dan Machnik of Lake

Villa, who weighed in four Walleye with a total weight of 5.56 pounds, and collected $1,000. Second place went to Jeff Harris of Antioch and Jeff Miller of Ingleside, who also weighed in four walleye with a total weight of 5.16 pounds, and collected $500. Third place went to Jim Lass and Mike Gofron, both from Antioch, who also weighed in four walleye with a total weight of 5.06 pounds. The biggest walleye, weighing in at 2.15 pounds was caught by Todd Miller of Ingleside and Jason Schine of McHenry, and paid $250. A total of $2,640 was paid to the teams who finished 7th place or better.

Tammy and Scott Duncan, the tournament directors, would like to thank Brad and Chris Schwagerman of Johnsburg, Jim Miller of Spring Grove, and Jeff Mashke of Lake Villa for all of their hard work in their participation to make this tournament a great success.

The next CWS tournament will be held on Sunday, April 26, at Steitz's Resort. Visit Steitz's Resort or any of the local bait shops for tournament rules and entry forms, or call Scott or Tammy Duncan at (815) 675-6447 for more information.

Lake Geneva Raceway to open season April 4

Lake Geneva, Wis., with the BARS "Let's Go Racing" Auto Show completed and the unusually warm weather on the horizon, Lake Geneva Raceway is gearing up for the beginning of its 33rd season of oval track stock car racing.

Saturday night, April 4, the world's fastest one third mile paved banked oval will come alive, in the first of 33 weekly shows. On Friday night, May 22, the regular weekly show will run, due to a short track super truck series Saturday night, May 23. On opening night four divisions will compete. The super late models, Herb's super stocks, Allison Legacy cars and sport trucks will race in time trials, dash events and features. The "out of car" intro will begin each feature event, when time permits and good weather. Time trials will be at 6 p.m. first race at 7:30 p.m. sharp each week.

The Sunday late afternoon shows will begin monthly on June 7 as the Small Car championship series in the first of four shows, then topping off the season with the Small Car world championships on Friday night October 2. The Select Performance legend cars, Outlaw Rascals, mini modifieds, Sport Trucks, Dwarf Cars, Super Mini cups and many other club type associations should produce a very large competitive field of race cars.

Special oval track events, include three Mid American point series events, April 25, June 13, Oct. 3 and 4.

Scholarship available from Chamber

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

High school students are eligible to apply to the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce for a college scholarship. The deadline for submittal to the chamber is Monday, April 13.

The Paul Yuris Memorial Scholarship application form is available from high school guidance counselors at Antioch, Grayslake, Carmel, and Grant Township.

"The chamber established a scholarship in his memory for students in Lake Villa Township going on to any college," said Bob Ringa, president of the Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce.

"The chamber will be awarding three $500 scholarships," he said.

Paul Yuris was an officer of the chamber of commerce. He was the Vice-President of the First American Bank in Lake Villa.

William McEwan is chairman of the chamber committee that will review submitted applications. The committee also includes: Paul Phillips, Bob Wickencamp, Kathleen Hufnagle, John LaRoi, Sue Hanson, and Joe Zale. Final candidate nominees are approved by the chamber's directors.

A night around the Round Table

Storyteller Stephen Fluet will spin an entertaining evening of Arthurian Legends to delight all ages on Tuesday, May 12, from 7 to 8 p.m. at the Lake Villa District Library. These tales of the magical world of King Arthur and Camelot are appropriate for the entire family. No registration is required.

The Lake Villa District Library is temporarily located at Rollins Road and Route 83 in Round Lake Commons. Contact the Public Services Dept. at 356-7711 for assistance or special accommodations to attend programs.

Library offers pie and paperbacks

The fourth Thursday evening of the month at the library is now devoted to the discussion of paperback books and the eating of pie.

The April 23 discussion will be on the topic of Romantic Suspense. The specific title is Anne Stuart's Ritual Sins.

Call 356-7711 for further information or to recommend other types of paperbacks to discuss.

The Lake Villa library is temporarily located at Rollins Rd. and Route 83 in Round Lake Commons.

Contact the Public Services Dept. for assistance or special accommodations to attend any library programs.

you spend $50, you get $5.

This Wednesday thru Saturday* make purchases totaling $50 and get a $5 mall gift certificate.

No catches...really.

It's a good thing.

Just one per customer, though, regardless of how much you spend.

I was afraid my health plan limited my choice of physicians.

Until I learned about the doctors who are members of Health Options of Illinois.

Choice— The Health Options difference.

Choosing a doctor you can trust and feel comfortable with is an important part of caring for your family's health.

Health Options of Illinois, a physician/hospital organization that includes some of Lake County's finest doctors and Victory Memorial Hospital, offers you a choice of over 40 primary care physicians. And, should you need the care of a surgeon, obstetrician or other specialist, your choice is even greater with Health Options.

These are doctors thousands of Lake County families put their trust in every day. You can, too. During your company's open enrollment sessions, choose a healthcare plan that includes one of the doctors listed below and Victory Memorial Hospital. (If you don't find these doctors listed in your company's health plan, talk to your benefits manager or health plan coordinator.)

Choose a Health Options physician. You'll recognize the difference.

Do You Know Your Business Community?

Sponsored by Lindenhurst - Lake Villa Chamber of Commerce

Money Spent At Home Stays At Home!

For some people, shopping for goods or services is a hobby, and for others, it's a chore. If your schedule is constantly busy, here's some advice to save time, save money and reduce stress - "Shop Locally."

Avoid traffic, extra time, problems with returns and extra miles on your car. Your local business owners are friendly and have just what you're looking for, and are often cheaper and more service-oriented than businesses out of the area.

This year, why not support your local merchants who support us all year long. Money spent here helps our schools, churches, streets and many other advantages we all enjoy.

Please get to know your Lindenhurst and Lake Villa business communities!

PROTECT YOUR DOG

Your Dog's Good Health Includes Heartworm Prevention

This time of year it is important to get our pets started on heartworm and flea prevention. Spring is here and along with the trees and flowers beginning to bud, the fleas and mosquitoes are also making their appearance.

Picking up the pieces

Libertyville agency aids families going through divorce

By JASON J. KING
Staff Reporter

Statistics tell only part of the painful story of divorce. Divorce often leaves both husband and wife struggling financially and socially.

There are more than 1.2 million divorces annually in the United States affecting at least 2.4 million people.

The number of divorces in the U.S. has increased 71 percent since 1970 while the number of married couples has increased by only 19 percent.

There are more children in the U.S. from divorced families than children from non-divorced families.

Demographers predict that 40-60 percent of all marriages will eventually end in divorce.

The above numbers speak volumes, but divorce cannot be measured by statistical means. The scars are deep, the emotional wounds slow to heal and the financial affects can last a lifetime.

Often, the individual players have nowhere to turn.

Libertyville's J. Garth Pickering is working to change that. He founded the American Association of Divorced Families (AADF) to help families going through divorce.

AADF is a membership organization founded in 1997 by Pickering and located in Libertyville. The AADF's mission is to help those going through divorce with both monetary and social needs during and after.

The mission of AADF is, "to provide individuals who are experiencing the realities and consequences of divorce with an opportunity to benefit from need-based, customized service along with temporary monetary and social support."

Pickering said after researching the subject for months he found there were no similar organizations available to those who were going through a divorce.

The organization's concept is simple. Members pay a fee between $14.95 to $49.95, which entitles them to all the benefits of the organization.

Chief among those benefits is what Pickering refers to as "collective buying power."

The AADF has forged working relationships with a number of national vendors representing several service areas including legal representation, child care, long distance phone, education, insurance, travel and moving. By granting these vendors exclusiv-ity through the organization, members are given discounts on the above services.

Those discounts will allow members to repurchase some of the things that they once owned as a couple.

"You really don't realize until you go into it that you have to purchase items you once had as a couple," said Pickering.

Purchasing power is not the only benefit members will receive from the organization. Members may also receive job training and placement, referral services, a subscription to DIVORCE magazine and a unique opportunity to further their education.

The AADF has established the American Association of Divorced Families Scholarship Foundation. The foundation is a non-profit extension of the AADF committed to providing members and their children the opportunity to apply for financial assistance for furthering their education.

"Member funds support this non-profit area," said Dana Sabonjian, director of membership operations. "We're giving back to the members."

Pickering, along with Sabonjian, currently make up AADF's staff, but they anticipate hiring additional workers in the near future to handle the large demand of inquiries expected of the organization.

Both Pickering and Sabonjian have firsthand knowledge of divorce's devastating effects.

"Even the easiest divorces are ridiculously painful," said Pickering who was divorced after a nine-year marriage. "It was an absolute nightmare. Even in the best circumstances it's extremely painful."

Sabonjian has been divorced twice. Her first was in 1982. Her second came after four-and-a-half years of marriage.

"I've had time to heal," she said. "This is the first time I've lived totally by myself."

"You can get through this," Sabonjian

It's time to break out the garden hoe

I turned over my annual vegetable and flower beds this past weekend. I'm glad I did, I feel this year I've got a good, early start.

If you are growing vegetables this year, and grew them last year also, remember to change the spots where the vegetables grew, never plant the veggies where they grew the previous year. If you do, you are inviting a host of diseases and insect problems, this method is called crop-rotation and it is an excellent practice, especially if you are growing your garden the safe way—organically that is. Sow annual herbs, vegetables and flowers together.

When planning your garden, it is a good idea to plot it out on paper. Keep your notes for the following year. This way you will not repeat plantings, Cucubrits, squash vines, like to be planted by corn. Chives and tomatoes like carrots and basil. Annual herbs that do well with veggies are dill, chervil, borage, coriander. Corianders scent repels insects. Summer savory is good with beans and potatoes. Nasturtium, if a vegetable has aphids (or a flower for that matter) plant nasturtiums beside it. The aphids will quickly leave the vegetable, preferring the nasturtium. Avoid planting perennial herbs as companion plants for veggies. When you clean up the garden in the fall, you would have to transplant them. You may forget they are there, and till them under, come spring.

Also, if your garden is rather large, plan on paper where the rows will be, and don't forget about paths. Any garden larger than four feet, needs a path for easy excess to the plants. Last year, I used a heavy newspaper mulch and also old roof shingles for paths between rows. I simply put away the shingles in the fall, and tilled in the newspaper.

When using newspaper, do not use the colored pages or glossy ones. I layered the newspaper quite thickly, and then topped it with composted, and shredded twigs, and leaves. That way they break down and add much needed organic matter to your soil. Remember, even great soil needs added compost each year to combat the effects of soil erosion.

Another great idea is to plant a "green manure" crop in the fall, after the veggies are done producing. All soil needs organic matter to stay alive. A cover crop is planted such as winter oats, winter rye, alfalfa, or buckwheat. Ever annual herbs make good green manure crops. Once the crop is eight inches high, it can be tilled under, either in the fall or in the spring.

The erosion problem is solved, and I hear tell, the weed problem is kept to a minimum. Turning the cover crop under in spring provides the soil with lots of nitrogen and other nutrients, so that the plants that will grow there will have lots of food. The results are remarkable in the vegetable garden. Prepare your soil very tediously—give it a lot of tender, loving care. Good healthy soil will provide an environment where your plants will thrive, and will be much more resistant to disease and insect damage. Friable, healthy soil encourages excellent root growth and bushy, compact plants. If your soil crumbles easily through your fingers, you know what I mean. And, if it does not, you better get busy, you have a lot of work to do. Peace in gardening.

HOROSCOPE

Aries – March 21/April 20

You get yourself into a pretty difficult situation at the beginning of the week, Aries. Don't try to lie; people will see right through you. Just be honest, and try to work out a solution. Turn to loved ones for help. They can offer you good advice. A close friend needs to talk. Be there for him or her.

Taurus – April 21/May 21

Be persistent when it comes to what you want, Taurus. If you don't go after it, no one else will do it for you. You've got the talent and the knowledge to be successful. An acquaintance reveals his or her true feelings for you. Think about what you really want before responding to his or her advances.

Gemini – May 22/June 21

Be patient when it comes to a business situation this week. You've done all that you can; now, you just have to wait for others to make a decision. Even though it's difficult, there's nothing else that you can do. Romance is in the air when you meet an intriguing stranger late in the week. Don't let him or her get away. Aries plays a key role.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

You're the center of attention, Cancer, but this isn't necessarily a good thing. A problem is placed in your lap. Do your best to come up with a solution. Others are counting on you. A loved one asks for your help with a family event. Do what you can, but don't take on more than you can handle.

Leo – July 23/August 23

You are given total control when it comes to a business venture. Do your best and use sound judgment. This is your chance to shine. If you do well, a lot of doors will be open to you. That special someone wants to step up the relationship. Say yes—you know that this is what you really want.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

An important personal relationship has you worried early in the week, Virgo. You want everything to work out, but don't know if it will. Don't stress about it. Just be yourself, and everything will work out for the best. A loved one needs your advice. Be as supportive as you can.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

You're restless, Libra. No matter what you try to do, nothing feels right. Take some time for yourself. Relax, and pamper yourself. This is sure to set you back on the right track. An old friend calls you out of the blue. Don't be too eager to get back into a relationship with him or her. Remember why you two haven't spoken in a long time.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't let a problem at the beginning of the week get to you. Try to stay in control, Scorpio. That's the only way to work things out. The person you've been seeing stops calling. Don't get discouraged. He or she wasn't the one for you anyway. Cancer plays a key role on Wednesday.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

You have a difficult week ahead of you. There is a lot to get done and no one to help you. Stay focused, and don't let those around you set you off on tangents. With a little organization, you can get it all accomplished. A close friend needs your help with a relationship. Give him or her sound advice. Leo plays an important role.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

Your shyness actually helps you get ahead this week, Capricorn. An influential person is touched by your personality and makes you a great business offer. Take it. A family member turns to you in a time of need. Be there for him or her and do what you can.

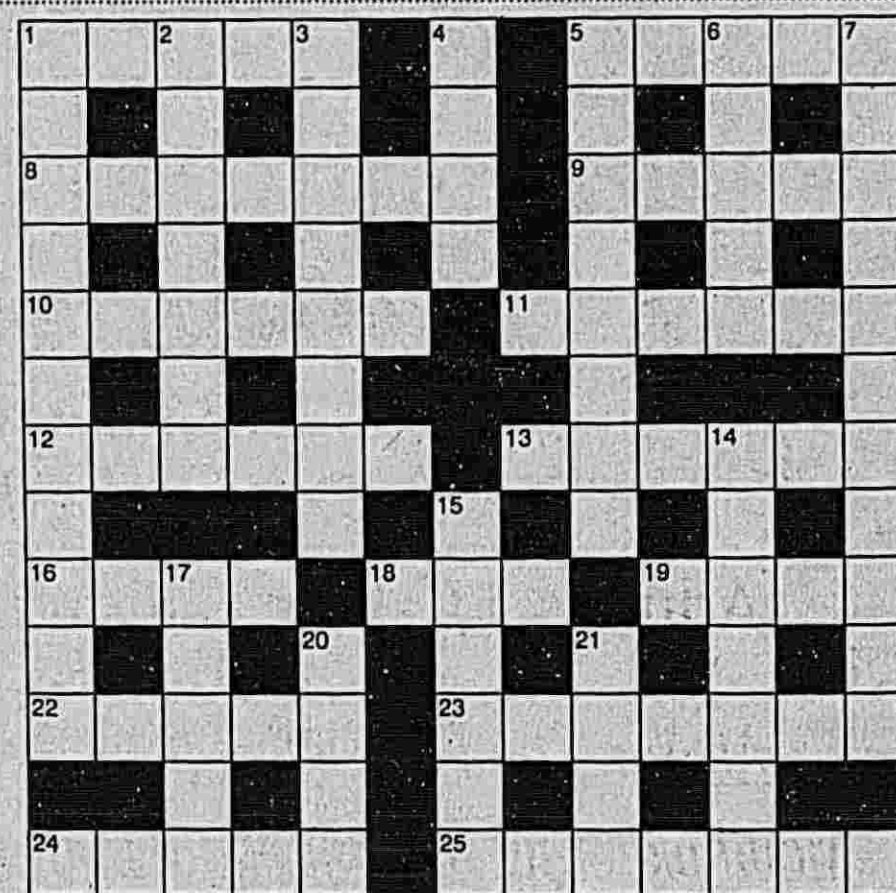

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let yourself get pinned down early in the week. Someone wants you to take on a great amount of responsibility. While you could handle it, you have too much of your own work to do. Put your foot down and say no. You meet an intriguing person while running errands late in the week. He or she returns your interest.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20

All is right with the world, Pisces. Everything is going your way, and you make great progress in professional and personal relationships. You also get a financial windfall at the end of the week. However, don't spend it all in one place. You're going to need it soon.

A moment to say...

Thank You

I'd like to take this time to say thank you for 15 wonderful years of being in business as Jerry's Parkway Foods in downtown Grayslake. It is time for us to move on. We had reached a point where because of retirement and relocation of some of our key people, we could not deliver to you our customers what we had been for the past 15 years. I had felt we reached a crossroads where our banquet and catering business had become so big and important for our growth for the future that we needed to make a change with our Grayslake location. Many of you know we operate three very successful banquet halls, Parkway Banquets at Renwood Golf Course in Round Lake Beach, Parkway Banquets at Antioch Golf Club in Antioch, and Parkway by the Lake on Long Lake in Ingleside. These locations have become more and more a demand on me and my staff's time, and in a reluctant, but eye opening revelation, I had come to the realization that I did not want to be in the grocery business anymore. The demands of the grocery business and the banquet business made it such that I was working 80 to 90 hours per week, and I knew this could not continue. I felt our growth and future was in banquets and catering, so as of the first of March I had begun the process to convert our Grayslake location to another banquet hall. I already had a discussion with the village about building code requirements and liquor licenses, but with the advice of my attorneys, we allowed the unpleasant but inevitable to occur with the closing of our store. I could have fought this process, but I reached a point where I said I don't want to be in the grocery business anymore. By letting it go the way we did, downtown Grayslake still will have a store, my employees would still have jobs that would not have been available if we converted the location, and certain leases and obligations would go away. Although an unpleasant process, and certainly the papers love to print sensational but untrue and distorted headlines and numbers, this still represented the best for downtown Grayslake for its future. I would hope that you support our successor and help to keep downtown Grayslake a viable part of the future.

For our loyal employees and customers and everyone who supported us for the many years, I say a sincere Thank You! We always tried to be good and supportive of all the churches and organizations and charitable causes that ever came to us for any donation and support, and I was proud to be the first to always say yes, we'll be glad to help you, and I wouldn't change any of that. We always tried to be good people to provide everything from home delivery to senior citizens and organization discounts and many other services that make Grayslake the quality town we were proud to be a part of. But now it's time to move on and pursue our banquet and catering business that is so huge for us. We look forward to being a part of Grayslake and the surrounding area for many years to come, and we look forward to serving you in any form of catering and banquets and parties at our locations or certainly at yours. Thank you for allowing us to be a part of your community.

'Yankees' auditions

The Glenview Theatre Guild announces auditions for its 1998 summer production of "Damn Yankees," directed by Stevi Marks, choreographed by Bonnie Lasky and with musical direction by Phyllis Scott. Auditions will be held April 26 and 27 at 6 p.m. at Rugen Community Center, 901 Shermer, Glenview. Callbacks will be Thursday, April 30 beginning at 6 p.m. Prepare a song from the show or bring your own sheet music. Appropriate attire for dance should be worn. You must be at least 16 years old to audition. Production dates are June 19, 20, 21, 25, 26 and 27 at Watson Auditorium, Glenbrook South High School, 4000 W. Lake Ave., Glenview. For more information, call 604-3411.

'Wizard of Oz'

Tickets are on sale for "The Wizard of Oz" at the Rosemont Theatre, through April 5. Mickey Rooney and Eartha Kitt star in the stage production of the 1939 movie classic.

The stage play unfolds in a black-and-white setting, the same imagery as the original movie. As Kansas is struck by the tornado and Dorothy's house settles in Munchkinland, a kaleidoscope of color surrounds the audience.

Dorothy then begins her journey through Oz, encountering Glinda the Good Witch, the citizens of Munchkinland, The Wicked Witch of the West and the Wizard, himself.

Rooney, portraying the Wizard, is a film veteran who has twice been nominated for an Academy Award. Eartha Kitt is a veteran of stage, screen, cabaret and the recording industry, and is one of a handful of performers to be nominated for a Tony, an Emmy and a Grammy. Jessica Grove, 15, from Columbus, Ohio, portrays Dorothy.

Julie Ann Emery stars as Gypsy Rose Lee, and Alene Robertson, right, is Mama Rose in "Gypsy" at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre.

'Gypsy'

Gypsy is back! Often praised as one of Broadway's greatest triumphs, Gypsy is as gutsy and timeless as it was on opening night in 1959. Based on Gypsy Rose Lee's memoirs, Gypsy traces the life of Mama Rose, a bold, larger-than-life "stage-mother" who is determined to make vaudeville stars out of her two daughters, June and Louise. Gypsy features music by Jule Styne, lyrics by Stephen Sondheim and book by Arthur Laurents.

Alene Robertson reprises her role as Mama Rose, and Julie Ann Emery stars as her daughter Louise, better known as Gypsy Rose Lee.

The play is at the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre and runs through May 31. Performances are Wednesdays at 2 and 8 p.m.; Thursdays and Fridays at 8 p.m.; Saturdays at 5 and 8:30 p.m.; and Sundays at 2:30 and 7 p.m. Tickets are $33; senior citizens and students receive a $5 discount on Wednesdays and Sundays. Reservations can be made by calling the Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre box office at 634-0200. Marriott Lincolnshire Theatre is located at 10 Marriott Drive, Lincolnshire.

West Side Story

Actors Theatre of Glencoe presents West Side Story on April 24, 25, May 1 and 2 at 8 p.m. and on April 26 and May 3 at 2 p.m. at Misner Auditorium at Central School, 621 Grove St., Glencoe. The show is directed by Dennis Barden, Bonnie Lasky is the choreographer, and Jack Cameron is music director. A special opening night even features a raffle for prizes including round trip plane tickets for two anywhere in the United States. Tickets are $12 at the door, $10 in advance and $15 opening night (raffle ticket included). Call 604-2100 for more information.

'Land of Oz'

The Northbrook Theatre for Young Audiences presents the musical tale of "The Land of Oz" on Saturdays, April 18 through May 23 at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. at their theatre located at 3323 Walters Ave., Northbrook. Did you ever wonder what happened when the Scarecrow was left in charge of the land of Oz? This story is the second book in the L. Frank Baum Oz series and is presented by a professional company of adult actors. All seats are reserved and priced at $5 in advance and $6 at the door. To purchase tickets, call 291-2367. Box office hours are Mon.-Fri., 10 a.m.-6 p.m.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Family History seminar set

The Zion Genealogical Society is hosting a Beginner's Family History Seminar on April 25 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the San Damiano Hall at St. Therese Hospital, 2615 Washington St., Waukegan. The cost, including lunch, is $18 for non-members and $15 for members. A special introductory membership is being offered for $5.

For more information, call 623-2396.

'Living Legends' concert on tap

Mark your calendars for April 30 or May 1! Coming to the Waukegan High School Auditorium is a family-oriented musical celebration of Latin and Native American, and Polynesian cultures performed by the more than 40 member Living Legends troupe. This international fine-arts touring group features students from Brigham Young University who are members of these cultures.

The concert is a community-service fundraising project by the Waukegan High School Fresh Start students. The students are donating all profits to the Carnegie Preservation Project's efforts to open the career-oriented, high-technology center, the Doorway to the Future for the youth of the community.

The public and local businesses are asked to call 336-6703 and leave a message to request information on supporting this worthwhile venture either through ticket purchases, program or ticket underwriting, or other opportunities.

Watercolor exhibit on wildlife

Explore the beauty of Lake County's wildlife as you view the striking imagery of Wildlife Watercolors, an art exhibit on display through May 31, at the Lake County Forest Preserves' Lake County Museum near Wauconda.

Lake County Forest Preserves Land Management Technician, Tom Smith, has captured the subtle beauty and splendor of local wildlife in over 25 watercolor paintings. Many of the paintings focus on the county's endangered species including native orchids and birds.

Smith has been an artist for 24 years. Before joining the Forest Preserves, Smith worked as an artist for the Chicago Academy of Sciences and the Adler Planetarium.

All of Smith's paintings are for sale. A portion of each sale will be donated to the Volunteer Stewardship Network, a Forest Preserve support organization.

The Lake County Museum is located in Lakewood Forest Preserve on Route 176 just west of Fairfield Road near Wauconda. Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., on Sundays. Admission is $2.50 for adults; $1 for children ages 4 to 18. Children 3 and under are free.

For more information on the Wildlife Watercolors exhibit, call the Lake County Museum at 526-7878.

includes community outreach; open auditions in local Harlem elementary schools, and academic tutoring and counseling services for members and their families.

Tickets for The Boys Choir of Harlem are $15-$37. Box seats are $60. For tickets or other information, call PhoneCharge at (312) 294-3000.

Ravi Shankar performs

Following last season's sold-out concert, internationally acclaimed composer and sitarist Ravi Shankar returns to Orchestra Hall on Sunday, April 12 at 7:30 p.m. Ravi Shankar will be performing with his 16-year-old daughter sitarist Anoushka Shankar as part of the Symphony Center Presents series, in association with the Ravinia Festival. Tabla player Bikram Ghosh will assist them on stage.

India's most famous and esteemed musical ambassador, Ravi Shankar has successfully bridged the worlds of Eastern and Western classical and pop music for more than four decades.

Tickets for Ravi Shankar are $15-$37. Box seats are $60. For tickets and all other information, call PhoneCharge at (312) 294-3000.

art, woodwork, jewelry, photography and any other type of work. Applicants must submit three slides, photographs, or other representations of their work, along with a $30 application fee (Grayslake residents $15) which will be returned if the application is not accepted by the Festival judging committee. Musicians and other entertainers are also being sought. For more information, call 548-2858 or 550-1855.

Artists sought

FamilyCare of Illinois, a 139-year-old social service agency, is seeking traditional artisans to participate in The Old Fashioned Strawberry Festival's juried art fair. Submissions may be sent to FamilyCare of Illinois, 70 East Lake Street, Suite 900. Interested artisans should submit two slides of their work and a completed entry form. Entry forms can be obtained by calling FamilyCare of Illinois at (312) 658-6228.

The Old Fashioned Strawberry Festival will be held on June 19 and 20 on Lake Street. The Festival will celebrate FamilyCare's 139-year tradition of strengthening families and will feature art, music and a variety of strawberry treats. For more information about this family-oriented festival, call FamilyCare of Illinois at (312) 658-6228.

'Flowers as Art'

Loyola University Chicago's Martin D'Arcy Gallery of Art will bring the grandeur of France's formal gardens to Chicago through its "living art exhibit" "Flowers as Art: The Garden of Versailles" April 17-20. The four-day event celebrates French culture and the royal pleasure garden of Versailles created by France's Sun King, Louis XIV. Crest of Fine Flowers, one of Chicago's premiere florists, will design colorful floral arrangements that highlight the gallery's art collection and dramatize how nature's artistry complements artistic creativity. The "living art" also celebrates thematically and visually the "rite of spring" and the fêtes so typical of 18th-century France. The annual festival kicks off with a benefit preview on Friday, April 17, from 6 to 8 p.m. The party will feature French cuisine, wine and period music. Tickets are $50 per person. The display will be open to the public on Saturday, April 18 and Sunday, April 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is $5. The Martin D'Arcy Gallery of Art is located in the Cudahy Library at Loyola's Lake Shore campus, 6525 N. Sheridan Road, Chicago. For more information, call (773) 508-2679.

MUSIC

Boys Choir of Harlem

Symphony Center Presents, in association with the Ravinia Festival, will host The Boys Choir of Harlem, led by director Dr. Walter J. Turnbull, for an evening of harmony and spirit at Orchestra Hall on Monday, April 13 at 8 p.m.

Founded in 1968 by Dr. Turnbull as an alternative to the despair he found in the streets and schools of Harlem, The Boys Choir of Harlem has grown from a small community choir to a major performing ensemble, the choir "system"

What the IRS and Kenneth Starr have in common

There's been a lot of talk in the past year or two about the naughty IRS.

That's right—the naughty IRS, not just the naughty loophole-happy tax dodgers. Apparently, the IRS has become increasingly crazed with its own misguided power (really??), laboring under the impression that they answer to no one—not the people of this country and not even our government.

Sort of like Kenneth Starr, except the IRS doesn't care who you slept with.

Wait—that's not exactly true. They don't care who you slept with UNLESS the person you slept with gave you a "tip" for your "services", and you didn't report it (shame on you!)

Anyway, even honest taxpayers are so afraid of the IRS that a mere letter with a Kansas City return address can send them into cardiac arrest. A recent study cites letters from the IRS as #5 on the list of causes of heart attacks in this country (#4 is when your teenage son announces he has cleaned his room - and you didn't even ask him.)

It's gotten so bad that finally our government has taken notice (many members of our government noticed this from their jail cell, where they were serving a sentence for tax fraud) and they've begun giving the IRS a verbal "heads up" that they need to find a kinder, gentler way to do business. Which only makes sense—stop scaring people to death, because you can collect a whole lot more taxes from living people.

Personally, I'm surprised we've let the IRS get so powerful. Here we are, the United States of America, land of the free (except those serving jail time for tax fraud), and home of the original Boston Tea Party (note to readers who flunked history—the Boston Tea Party is not a girls sports team), and yet we have let ourselves fall into the same trap we were in over 200 years before. Only now, instead of paying oppressive taxes to another country, we pay oppressive taxes to our own country. And what do we get for our taxes? We get laws that require us to have so-called water-saver toilets that use half the water but require two or three times the flushing! THIS IS FREEDOM????

LIFE'S A BEAR

Sorry. I felt a sudden flush of rebelliousness. But getting back to the IRS, they are finally realizing that they are no longer omnipotent (actually, there is now a drug to cure that problem, but I won't tell them if you won't). Which means they are going to need to find new, more subtle ways to collect unpaid taxes. No more of those frightening letters like this:

Dear Taxpayer,
We have processed your return and noticed a discrepancy.

Nice try.
Vito will arrive at your house in 30 minutes with a large truck. Make no mistake—that is not a pickle in his pocket.

It is a 44 Magnum.
Sincerely,
The IRS

In fact, I understand that the new kinder, gentler letters have already been composed and are ready for mailing once the 1998 returns are processed. My sources were able to obtain an advance copy of the new letter, which goes like this:

Dear Taxpayer,
We have processed your return and noticed a discrepancy. We're sure it wasn't intentional. Nevertheless, Vito will arrive at your house in 60 minutes with a large truck. Make no mistake—that is not a pickle in his pocket. It is a 38 Magnum.

We apologize for any inconvenience.

Your humble servant,
The IRS.

Well, I guess it's a start. In the meantime, let's hope that Kenneth Starr never decides to work for the IRS.

Of course, if he does, there will probably be a sudden increase in taxes collected on "tips"...

Eco-Tourism Helping To Save The Environment

President, North Star Travel

I'll be the first to admit that uncontrolled tourism has been a destructive factor in regards to the environment.

Having studied conservation back in the 1960's at Northern Illinois University, I have long been concerned about the destruction of the environment. Since getting into the travel business, I have seen much of the world's beauty sacrificed for the sake of the tourist dollar.

Now, ironically, that same tourist dollar is actually helping to save endangered species and working to allow tourism and the environment to co-exist.

The public's growing concern for preserving the earth's natural wonders has created a new concept called "eco-tourism". The world wildlife fund describes eco-tourism as "The pleasures of discovering and understanding spectacular Flora and Fauna with an opportunity to contribute to their protection."

One such example of tourism contributing to saving an endangered species is an adventure offered by Atlantic Marine Wildlife Tours.

You are taken in a small group by helicopter into Canada's Gulf of St. Lawrence. You land on an ice float where a herd of harp seals live and give birth around the end of February. You can actually walk among the infant seals which, only five years ago, were brutalized by club-swinging trappers for their prized snow white pelts. With the trappers now gone, the seals have been known to come out of the water and nurse pups right in front of the human visitors.

With seal tourism now generating $1.5 billion a year, the Canadian government is getting too much tax revenue to ever allow hunting of these precious creatures again.

Whale watching is another tourist industry which is having an impact on eliminating the slaughtering of the great mammals. It has become far more profitable to watch them, than to hunt them.

What is important now, is the traveler, and the travel industry, must recognize how fragile the environment is. Wilderness areas aren't Disneyland. The environment can't be fixed if we break it.

MOVIE REVIEW

'60s 'Space' returns in better shape

If you were a kid watching TV back in 1965 you were enthralled by two shows that had people lost. Both groups had a professor. One strange group got stranded on an island and another stranger group, was a family lost in outer space.

Long before there were Trekkies, there were Spaceys enthralled by the corny outer space special effects employed by the television version of Swiss Family Robinson, "Lost In Space."

Those fake looking rockets, not much better than the ones in "Flash Gordon," a dopey head spinning robot with a mechanical voice warning Will Robinson of imminent danger, two smart-aleck kids, the bad and bumbling scientist, and a garbage-filled planet were all we had to fulfill our space dreams back then.

Despite the crashes of the re-makes of "McHale's Navy" and "Sgt. Bilko," and based on the success of Tom Cruise's update of "Mission Impossible," and "The Brady Bunch," this new big screen version of one of the Baby Boomers' diversion every supper time, is bigger, better, more polished, yet still filled with loads of pop culture, retaining some of that "Leave it To Beaver," or "Father Knows Best," naiveté that keeps TV's "Nickelodeon" going strong for young and old alike.

Still schlocky, but most entertaining, the 1998 action-filled version of "Lost In Space," has William Hurt playing Professor Robinson, a 21st century astrophysicist, Mimi Rogers his feisty wife, Jack Johnson playing the precocious Will, Lacey Chabert, the campy kid violinist in TV's "Party of Five," emotes as his genius sister, Penny, and Gary Oldman, fresh from his villainous triumph in "Air Force One," is a more menacing psychotic Dr. Smith than the somewhat silly Jonathan Harris in the '60s.

One of our favorite "Friends," Matt LeBlanc, leaves jerky Joey behind and becomes a sexy Don West, while Director Stephen Hopkins uses updated computer generated space effects to bring the Robinson family into the next century as they spin through space, hoping to colonize a new planet since Earth has become too war-ridden for them.

They are thrown off course and land on another planet where they meet such challenges as monster bugs. If you are under 35, you will probably think "Lost In Space" is just another expensive sci-fi adventure.

But the 1998 "Lost In Space" comes close to being a classic version of an early space tale, nostalgia at its best. We give it four out of five stars. Guess we're not the only ones interested in the return of Space Family Robinson since the $20 million opening weekend of "Lost In Space," finally knocked "Titanic" out of the top moneymaking slot after five months.—By Gloria Davis

Built for the next century

Stryczynski Walker & Associates, architects and Sevconco, Inc., builders have teamed up to create the home of the next century—The Millennium Home. The Millennium is not only full of futuristic elements but also chock full of amenities that make living life easier, especially for the aging baby boomer. Built on two wooded acres off of Half Day Road in tree-lined Lincolnshire, the home is hidden from street view. Yet once discovered, the Millennium home cannot be missed, its leaded glass doors and cedar shake roof with copper flashing beckon you in. And this is just the beginning of a home that is like no other.

The Millennium home is being built for the upcoming Custom Builder Conference April 17-19. Custom builders from throughout the United States will have the opportunity to view the home and marvel at all the features. According to A. William Stryczynski, Principal of Stryczynski Walker & Associates and the home's architect, "We wanted to design a home that was classic, yet provide for living well into the next century." Kim Haig, project architect and principal designer at Stryczynski Walker & Associates for the Millennium Home adds, "We worked closely with the client to create an open floor plan with modern conveniences on the interior, while expressing timeless elegance on the exterior. The home is laid out specifically for the site, to take advantage of the best views, especially in the expansive great room. Above all, we wanted to design a home that is very livable, not just a showcase for expensive furnishings, but a home that enhances the owners' quality of life."

The Millennium Home is 5,700 square feet with five bedrooms and an eight car 3,000 foot garage with radiant floor heat and cathedral ceilings. Accessible living features include: a Matot elevator, wider hallways and doors, a ramp from the garage, light switches at 36 inches height for easy access and lever door hardware.

The home was built with a fast-track schedule and under the direction of custom builder, Scott Sevcon, President of Sevconco, Inc. "We wanted to meet the time frame for the Custom Builder conference yet not sacri-

Are You Ready For Spring?

Remember how beautiful your carpets looked when they were new? The Oreck Steamer® Carpet Cleaner produces immediate results – guaranteed. Vacuuming is just not enough. The airborne dirt and grime that sticks to your drapes and curtains also robs your carpet of vibrancy, luster and shine. Pollution dulls carpet. Oreck glorifies it. The Oreck Steamer Carpet Cleaner's special action picks up where vacuums leave off. To clean a shirt collar, you can't merely wipe it off or shake it off and the same goes for your carpets. To get rid of the dulling film you need the new Oreck Steamer Carpet Cleaner. It lifts, grooms, washes and extracts as easily as vacuuming!

If you buy now you get, free with purchase, either the Oreck XL 1200 Car Vac – a $39.95 value or a Stand Guard Anti-theft device – a $49.95 value.

Solatube skylights bring sunlight indoors without the cost, heat transfer, light loss and leaks of traditional skylights. They are available at Solar Brite Ltd., in Richmond.

SOLATUBE™ outshines the competition

Simply put SOLATUBE™ tubular skylights, available at Solar Brite Ltd., in Richmond, bring sunlight indoors like nothing else. What's more they do it without the cost, heat transfer, light loss and leaks of traditional skylights, which they are guaranteed against.

Invented and patented 10 years ago, SOLATUBE™ tubular skylights feature a high-tech mirrored tube, made of aluminum and lined with SPECTRALIGHT™ 2000, that runs from the roof surface to the ceiling, capped with a polycarbonate dome and patented sun capturing device that focuses and reflects light down through the tube to a diffuser at ceiling level that comes in clear and tinted colors, a variety of trim colors, and flush and convex shapes. It is guaranteed to withstand impact, cold, heat and the ultraviolet sun's rays without cracking or yellowing.

SOLATUBE™ comes in three sizes, 10 inches, 14 inches and 16 inches in diameter. The 10 inch model offers an optional integrated ventilation fan, an optional enclosed light, or both in a special three-way unit. The light option is also available in the 16 inch model.

The roof flashing is made in a variety of profiles polypropylene or aluminum. All components meet or exceed ASTM standards for skylights.

Tough SOLATUBE™ is warranted for 10 years against corrosion, peeling and material defects with the entire unit sealed to lock out dust, bugs and moisture. SOLATUBE is affordable, the 10 inch tube capable of illuminating 150 square feet even on cloudy days, is priced at $400.

SOLATUBE™ is easy to professionally install in less than two hours with the 10 and 14 inch models fitting between rafters and ceiling joists, requiring no structural changes. For the best skylighting system on the market, call Solar Brite at (815) 675-6616.

rice in the quality of building materials. All materials used were top caliber from the Pella Windows to the OSI Sealants. We used the best products on the market made by manufacturers who are leaders in their industries and the most highly qualified craftsmen to deliver a house that will meet the requirements of the homeowner. Similarly, Sevconco is a leader in building excellence. Our project managers are quality control experts as well, we're not satisfied with the work until it's done right."

No detail is missed in the final inspection of Dick Sevcon, Vice President of Construction for Sevconco, who also happens to be Scott's father, Dick explains, "Everything in the Millennium Home is built with quality construction techniques. For example, all corners in the home are radius corners by Trim Tex Corp.. This is quality workmanship and this is what sets Sevconco apart from the rest."

Stryczynski Walker & Associates and Sevconco, Inc. have created a design/build team that delivers the highest caliber of designs for living combined with quality workmanship and superior products. For additional information on the Millennium Home or on the Design/Build Team, contact Perrie Hayes of Hayes Marketing Communications at (847) 818-0030.

Conserve water, save money doing it

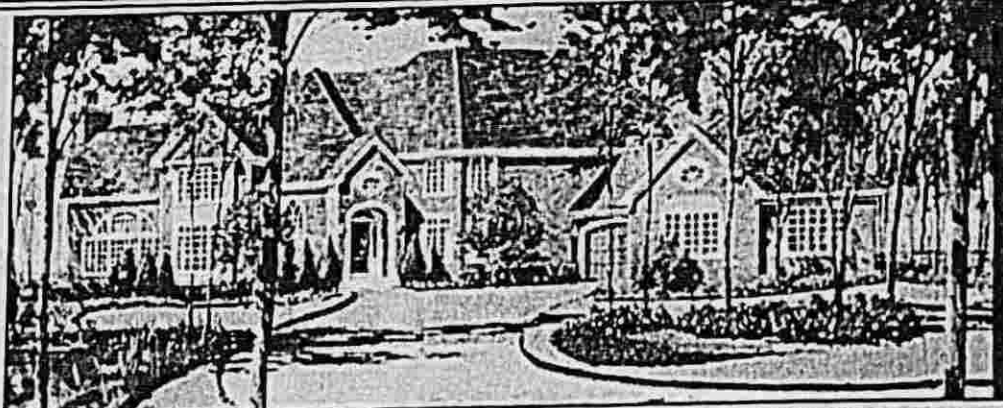

Many of us simply do not realize how much water we waste. Thanks to showers, brushing teeth and other bathroom stuff, the morning is probably the time of day when we waste the most water. Recent studies indicate that the average American family of four uses 255 gallons of water a day.

But there are so many ways to use water wisely in your home, everything from installing new water-saving toilets to putting aerators on your faucets and low flow heads on your shower fixtures.

Water costs you money in two ways. First, if it's hot water it costs you to heat it. Second, if you waste water you end up paying more than you need on your water bill.

Flushing is a major water user

Hot showers cost you money both for the water you use and the energy you consume to heat it. When you take a 10 minute shower using your old shower head you use about 50 gallons of water. Replace it with an easy-to-install low flow shower head and you'll cut your water use in half, and your 10 minute shower will feel the same.

The Millennium Home is 5,700 square feet with five bedrooms and an eight-car 3,000 foot garage with radiant floor heat and cathedral ceilings.

PICKING: Agency helps families deal with divorce

continued. "You can move on, it takes time, but it can work out. They can have hope."

The association is in its infancy, and is primarily a local organization so far, but Pickering has big plans for its future.

"We're going to begin a slow national roll out this fall," said Pickering. "We anticipate a full national roll out in 2001."

Both Pickering and Sabonjian said that their work with the association has not brought back the pain of their own divorces but has allowed them a chance to give others a place to turn.

"It's terrible. It's not fun," said Sabonjian. "I'll hopefully be able to understand what they're going through."

"It's almost been therapeutic," Pickering added. "I've found that I've been able to dive into this and find out there are a lot of people out there like me."

"There is strength in numbers," he continued. "We know the people are out there."

For more information on AADF, interested individuals may call locally to 680-5201. Long distance callers may dial (888) 355-2233 or may visit the organization's website at www.aadf1.com. The AADF will be able to begin handling inquiries starting Tuesday, April 14.

Classes in organization at Gorton

A class titled "P-L-A-N Your Day" will be held at Gorton Community Center, 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest, on Saturday, April 18 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The fee is $49.

Eileen Roth, owner of "Everything In Its Place," who has appeared on the "Today" and "Oprah" shows, will lead the class. Participants will learn to set goals and when the best time is to formulate them. Learn to use Master Lists and

To Do Lists to plan your day; then, incorporate rhythms and routines to make things go smoother before prioritizing your work.

"Cut the Clutter/Organize Your Home" will be held on Tuesday, April 28, from 7-10 p.m. for $39, and "Organize Your Office" will take place on Saturday, May 2, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for $49.

Participants should register and pay in advance. For more information, call 234-6060.

Gurnee Cinemas hosts classic musicals series

Three classic musicals will be featured at Marcus Cinema at Gurnee Mills during a weeklong festival beginning April 17.

"Our festival features An American in Paris, Singing in the Rain and Swingtime said Daniel Chapp, Festival Coordinator for Gurnee Cinema.

"The Hollywood movie musical is uniquely American," said Chapp. "These three films are perfect examples of this genre."

"An American in Paris, was the Academy Award winning Best Picture of 1951 and features the timeless music of George and Ira Gershwin. Gene Kelly, Leslie Caron and Oscar Levant start in this classic which won a total of seven Academy Awards," Chapp added.

"Swingtime is arguably the best of ten films Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers starred in. This 1936 film, directed by George Stevens, features dance numbers by the incomparable Astaire-Rogers team, as well as Astaire's masterful solo number "Bojangles of Harlem," stated Chapp.

"The third film, Singing in the Rain, may be the definitive Hollywood Musical. It brings together all the elements that make musicals magical. Gene Kelly, Debbie Reynolds and Donald O'Connor are all at the peak of their creative abilities. The music, plot and choreography all work together to create a film that sparkles with wit and energy," Chapp said.

"Gurnee Cinema is very proud to present these films on the big screen as they were meant to be seen. With plush stadium seating, state-of-the-art sound and projection and all the comforts today's moviegoers demand there is no better way to see these magnificent musicals," Chapp said.

The festival begins April 17-18 with screenings of An American in Paris at 1:00, 3:30, 7:00 and 9:30. Following on April 19-20 will be Singing in the Rain at 12:00, 2:30, 5:00, 7:30, 9:45. The festival's finale April 21-22-23 is Swingtime at 12:00, 2:30, 5:00, 7:30 and 9:45.

A special advance Hollywood Musical ticket good for all three films is now on sale at Gurnee Cinema for ten dollars. Tickets for individual features area also available. For further information call the theatre box-office at (847) 855-9945.

Bruce A. Schurman scholarship accepting applications

The Bruce A. Schurman Scholarship Fund is offering, for the fourth year, up to 10 scholarships in amounts up to $5,000 for students with permanent physical disabilities pursuing post-high school educational programs.

The Scholarship Fund was established to further Marianjoy's commitment to assist in rebuilding the lifestyles of those with permanent physical disabilities, more specifically, those disabilities with diagnoses treated through Marianjoy's diagnostic programs. These programs include: brain injury, spinal cord injury, stroke, musculoskeletal impairments such as Multiple Sclerosis, Cerebral Palsy and Guillan Barre Syndrome.

The Scholarship Fund was initiated to recognize Marianjoy's President, Bruce A. Schurman, for his nearly 20 years of dedicated leadership in providing services for the physically disabled.

Marianjoy Hospital and Clinics has the distinction of being one of the nation's preeminent institutions serving people with physical disabilities. Marianjoy is a division of Rehablink, an expanding network of rehabilitation services with treatment programs throughout Chicago and Northern Illinois. Since 1972 Marianjoy has been dedicated to rebuilding the lifestyles of people of all ages who have experienced physical disabilities resulting from birth defects, accidents, surgeries, illnesses or other conditions.

Fully completed applications and other required documents must be received at Marianjoy by April 20, 1998. Certain other eligibility requirements exist. For more information and to receive an application, call Marianjoy at (630) 462-4198.

SPOTLIGHT: Paisan's Ristorante

Location:
S.E. corner of Rt. 21 & Washington in Gurnee

Telephone:
(847) 625-1500

Hours: Open every day for lunch 11am to 4pm. Monday thru Friday. From 4 to 9pm. Sunday thru Thursday, and from 4 to 10p.m. Friday and Saturday Menu: Traditional Italian cuisine with accents of northern Italy.

Paisan's offers old world charm and elegance

Everything is brand new about Paisan's Ristorante Italiano except for the atmosphere filled with old world charm and elegance, and the time-worn popularity of the traditional Italian cuisine with accents of northern Italy, that make up the mouth-watering menu.

Owners Kevin and Dorothy Calcaterra believe that upscale European dining means offering the best Italian country dishes, served by an award winning staff, on white linen and crystal.

The coziness of the hunter green, burgundy and ivory decor, warmed with mahogany wood and adorned with classic prints, completes the inviting picture.

The homemade soups and desserts, as well as the fresh seafood and pasta dishes are several of the reason's Paisan's has become so popular in less than two years. The diversified menu also includes a long list of scrumptious pasta dishes, as well as the chef's favorite game specialties: roasted lamb and breaded pork chops.

The Calcaterra's hope that diners can find just a tiny bit of room for an award-winning dessert like the richest Tiramisu in town, the unusual bread pudding with Jack Daniel's sauce, yummy blueberry cobbler, or their special blood orange mousse served with rosemary peppered chocolate. Paisan's also offers a full wine list filled with choice Italian and California wines.

Customers receive friendly, fast and knowledgeable treatment from a wait staff that has been chosen Lake County's "Best Service" for restaurants, as well as from any of the rest of the well-trained staff, all of the same high caliber.

Paisan's will cater any affair either in-restaurant or at outside locations. Carryouts are also available.

Paisan's is open seven days a week, for lunch from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, for dinner, from 4 to 9 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, and from 4 to 10 p.m. on Friday and Saturday. Phone 625-1500 for reservations or more information. "Paisan's, where friends will be friends—forever."

Couples can capture romance in twilight ceremony

Couples wishing to capture the romance of exchanging vows just as the Caribbean sun sets across the horizon need only to ask for a Sandals Sunset WeddingMoon™.

This is the resort chain's newest concept in making destination weddings even more romantic. These carefully orchestrated affairs enable couples to marry at sunset, the most romantic time of day. Sandals Negril and Beaches Negril are currently the only properties to offer the Sunset WeddingMoon™ option, although it soon will be offered at Sandals' properties in Antigua, St. Lucia and the Bahamas.

Priced at $2,000, this event offers couples all the amenities of the traditional WeddingMoon™ package popularized by Sandals, from lavish seaside ceremonies to intimate private gatherings, and takes those luxuries one step further by hosting weddings as the warm Caribbean sun sinks into the pale-blue waters of the ocean.

Marrying couples will also receive a host of special treats not featured in the basic package, including a luxuriant wedding-celebration dinner for six people, champagne, traditional Jamaican folk music, day passes for two couples, beauty amenities like manicures and massages, and even a salon attendant to help couples look their best at the wedding of their dreams.

The package also includes VIP airport transfers, processing of wedding documents, marriage license, minister, wedding coordinator, best man and maid of honor if required, bouquet, boutonniere, elaborate hot and cold hors d'oeuvres at the reception, three-tiered Jamaican wedding cake, champagne goblets, photographs, satin-and-lace-covered photo album, professional honeymoon and wedding video, "Just Married" polo shirts, and a honeymoon breakfast in bed.

For more information, call 1-800-SANDALS.

To experience the romance of getting married at sunset, Sandals offers couples a Sunset WeddingMoon™.

Some picture-taking tips help capture special memories

Planning for a wedding can take months and even years. So, when "the big day" finally arrives, it's important to capture the fun, excitement and romance. Eastman Kodak Co. offers the following simple, yet valuable, tips for capturing your wedding memories on film:

Getting set for "the big day" — Some of the best memories happen before the day of the wedding. From the bride picking out her dress to the flower girl rehearsing, the special, once-in-a-lifetime events leading up to the wedding are great to capture for photo albums and as keepsakes. Delegate a friend or member of the bridal party as official record keeper. Arm them with one-time-use cameras, and capture all the fun and excitement.

From portraits to the bouquet toss — You'll want to capture as many moments as possible — because they won't come again. Make sure your camera is ready to go when you need it. For important occasions where you will be taking pictures in various lighting situations, use the new Kodak Gold Max film. It's specifically designed to self-adjust to any picture-taking situation and can be used for anything from a portrait of the bride under bright lights to guests dancing the macarena in a dark ballroom.

Take lots of pictures — Don't be shy with your camera, and take lots of pictures. You can never be sure how a photo will turn out, as someone may blink or make a funny expression. Often, you will find that the best photo was the one you shot the third or fourth time.

Get the guests involved — One of today's biggest wedding trends is for couples to place one-time-use cameras on tables, inviting guests to capture candid moments. (The professional photographer can't be responsible for capturing all the fun!) The Kodak wedding party pack contains five one-time-use cameras, each with 15 exposures, and five tent cards for the tables. The cameras feature a floral-and-lace design, along with an easy-to-use Sure Flash that recharges automatically.

Saying thank you doesn't have to be a chore — Use candid photos from the wedding, and send them to friends with thank-you notes. Creatively labeled photos will help the wedding-day memories last for years to come!

For more information on Kodak products or for additional photo tips, consumers can call the Kodak Information Center at 1-800-242-2424. The latest information is also available on the Internet at <http://www.kodak.com>.

QUALITY WEDDING
FOR THE DISCERNING BRIDE

Personalize your wedding with silver rings

As the '90s wedding has become ultraper-sonalized, individuality is key to selecting a wedding ring. Today, many couples are choosing bands that are more personal and ringed in style.

Rings no longer need to be traditional. Today's bands range from silver, gold, platinum and stones to combinations of metals for more versatility in the bride and groom's jewelry wardrobe. Hip sterling silver rings that adorn the most stylish fingers now also are taking a stroll down the aisle, reports the Silver Information Center.

Why are sterling silver wedding rings becoming popular? "Fashionable couples of all ages want a piece of jewelry that is current, reflective of the moment. They are more concerned with the aesthetic than tradition," says New York jewelry designer Meryl Waitz. "Silver isn't as expensive as other precious metals, thus it allows people the freedom to design more freely."

Bands can be wide or narrow, plain, shiny or satin-finished. Popular at the moment are artistic bands with a handcrafted, customized look. Designs, messages of affection and inspirational words also can be easily engraved and etched into silver rings.

"Custom-designing rings is a wonderfully personal idea," says Maria McBride-Mellinger, author of "The Perfect Wedding." "A brief inscription engraved inside, even outside, each band makes these rings truly special." The classic signature includes the bride and groom's initials and wedding date. McBride-Mellinger also recommends adding a poetic message that will be treasured always. Remember, his-and-her wedding bands don't have to match. Couples really can customize to suit each other's personality and what the relationship means to each of them.

Personalized silver rings also make affordable (prices start at less than $50) and novel gifts for both bridesmaids and groomsmen. There are a variety of creative possibilities. Couples can inscribe an attendant's lucky number, favorite expression or nickname on a plain, wide band. They can choose a decorative ring with scrolling vines or flowers for the garden lover, or a handsome key or ribbed motif for the traditionalist.

For those rekindling their wedding vows, a sterling ring with the virtues "truth" or "respect" etched for all to see takes on new meaning and serves as a reminder of the bond they share.

Like a marriage, couples want their wedding bands to be precious and last a lifetime. When buying silver rings, make sure they are sterling silver. Look for the ".925" mark.

Stylish brides and grooms are saying "I do" in simple, sterling silver bands to personalized ones engraved with designs and poetic messages. Shown are rings by Meryl Waitz, Jane Bohan, Carolee and Tina Segal.

CANCER RESOURCE CENTER

Walk-in mammograms set at Gurnee Mills

Strike "I don't have the time" and "It's not convenient" as excuses for not getting a mammogram.

Every Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., no appointment is necessary for a mammogram at the Cancer Resource Center in Gurnee Mills Mall, located at Entrance H, next to JC Penney. Just walk in, sign the appointment book, and in less than 30 minutes, your mammogram will be completed by a caring and conscientious imaging technician who specializes in mammography.

Cost for a mammogram is $49, including reading and interpretation by a Board-certified radiologist. Results will be sent to your personal physician.

To make an appointment or for more information, call (800) 940-2822. The Cancer Resource Center, America's number one source for news and information about cancer, is affiliated with Cancer Treatment Centers of America.

MIDWESTERN REGIONAL

Free blood pressure screenings

Have your blood pressure checked by a healthcare professional at the office of a physician affiliated with Midwestern Regional Medical Center, Zion. Call the physician closest to you for an appointment:

Lake Villa: Dr. Pedro Palu-ay, Dr. Daisy Andaleon, and Dr. Lubna Maruf, 300 N. Milwaukee Ave., 356-6602;

Lindenhurst: Dr. Semyon Maslovsky, 2045 E. Grand Ave., 356-6131;

Park City: Dr. Glynis Vashi, 401 S. Greenleaf Ave., 263-9900;

Zion: Dr. Pedro Palu-ay, Dr. Daisy Andaleon, and Dr. Lubna Maruf, 1911 27th St., 872-1615.

Mammograms offered for $49

For just $49, women can have mammograms performed—including reading and interpretation by a Board-certified radiologist—at Midwestern Regional Medical Center, 2520 Elisha Ave., Zion.

A mammogram can help detect cancer before you can see or feel anything. Our caring and conscientious imaging specialist will fully explain the procedure, answer questions, and complete the mammogram, usually in less than 30 minutes. Results from your mammogram will be sent to your personal physician.

For more information, or for an appointment call Midwestern at 731-4100. Medicare, commercial insurance, credit cards and personal checks are welcome.

LAKE COUNTY

Immunization provided for kids

Childhood immunization clinics are held at the Lake County Health Department, Belvidere Medical Building, 2400 Belvidere Road, Waukegan, every Monday and Thursday, from 1 to 3 p.m. (No appointment necessary.)

At the clinics, children can be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough (D.P.T.), measles, mumps, rubella (German measles), and Haemophilus influenza, type B (H.I.B.).

Parents are asked to bring their children's past immunization records. If a child has an immunization letter from a school nurse, it should also be brought to the session.

For more information, and for dates and locations of area immunization clinics, call the Lake County Health Department Communicable Disease Program at 360-6761.

Coping with a Loved One's Sexual Abuse

Common reactions to the situation of sexual abuse

Childhood sexual abuse has been in the news with alarming frequency in recent years. This media attention has encouraged many people to disclose for the first time their own experiences of abuse. Spouses who thought they knew all about their partners are suddenly faced with the unexpected information that they are with someone who was abused as a child. It can be a very difficult moment in the relationship, and most people are not well prepared for it. Mic Hunter, a psychologist and author of "Abused Boys: The Neglected Victims of Sexual Abuse," has observed several reactions that are common in these situations.

Relief

Surprisingly for many people relief is the first response to hearing that their partner was sexually abused as a child. Dr. Hunter explains this reaction by noting, "Suddenly, so many things make sense. Prior to this moment they had known that there was something not quite right in the relationship, and tried to figure out the root of the problem. Fears or sexual problems that were baffling before are now not so mysterious."

However, many people do not realize what is involved in recovering from sexual abuse and so they assume that now that their loved one has acknowledged the sexual abuse that all the problems will disappear. They are quite disappointed to learn that awareness is only the beginning of recovery.

Fear

Many people respond to learning of their partner's sexual abuse with fear. They are afraid that children are no longer safe in their home. This is particularly true when a man discloses he was abused as a child. Hunter seeks to lessen these fears, "There is a stereotype that someone who was abused as a child is fated to become a child molester as an adult. Fortunately, the vast majority of males and females who were abused do not go on to abuse children."

Guilt

Some partners experience guilt for now knowing that their loved one had been sexually abused. They assume they should have known somehow. In sessions Hunter hears statements such as, "I should have guessed. All the signs were there. I missed all the clues." In most cases this guilt is not appropriate or useful to either person. It is more important to focus on the here and now than on regrets about the past.

Anger

There is plenty to be angry about when it comes to the topic of sexual abuse. Usually the first anger is felt toward the person(s) who perpetrated the abuse. Since incest is the most common form of sexual abuse, in many cases the person who perpetrated the abuse was a family member with whom there is still an on-going relationship. This makes for conflict and tension around holidays as well as other times when families get together. Realizing that an in-law or other person one has known for years has abused a loved one can be a very frightening awareness. It is not safe to assume that just because the sexual abuse happened years ago that children today are safe when with the perpetrating person. People who have a history of abusing children and who do not receive treatment are very likely to continue to abuse others.

Anger at the victim is also common. This can take the form of anger for "letting it happen," for not disclosing it sooner, or for the time and money spent for therapy. In addition, disclosure of sexual abuse never seems to come at a convenient time; it always is disruptive somehow. It seems like a burden instead of a breakthrough when it is finally discussed. People find themselves longing for the days when sexual abuse was something that only an issue for other people or something only read about in newspapers.

Hearing that a loved one has been mistreated is difficult. Regardless of how one responds the topic is bound to come up again, and again. Hunter notes, "Victimized people need to talk about what happened numerous times and in various ways. Your task is merely to listen as best you can. You can't fix it or make the pain go away. But you can make the process easier for them by showing them you care."

Mic Hunter makes his living as a psychotherapist in St. Paul, Minnesota. He is the author of "Abused Boys: The Neglected Victims of Sexual Abuse," "The Twelve Steps and Shame," "Recovering From Shame Through the Twelve Steps," editor of "The Sexually Abused Male Volumes I & II," "Child Survivors and Perpetrators of Sexual Abuse," and "Adult Survivors of Sexual Abuse: Treatment Innovations." Copy provided by Article Resource Association.

Guidelines for Responding to Someone Who Has Been Abused

Hunter provides eight guidelines for persons who are in relationships with an abused person:

- Respect the person's privacy. Keep the details of the abuse to yourself or within a confidential relationship such as with a therapist, clergy person or support group.
- Do NOT confront the abuser(s) yourself. It is your loved one's responsibility to do that when ready.
- Pay attention to the emotions being experienced rather than getting wrapped up in the details of what happened.
- Comply with reasonable requests for special attention or safeguards. For example, if your loved one is afraid to answer the phone for fear it will be the abusive person, then do more than your fair share of answering the phone or buy a phone answering machine and screen the calls.
- Talk less, listen more.
- Learn the healing power of silence shared.
- Find a safe place to express your emotions.
- Above all, be patient.

The world's only transoral anesthetic patch makes its Midwestern debut at the Chicago Dental Society's Midwinter Meeting in Chicago, Feb. 19-22 at McCormick Place Lakeside.

DentiPatch, manufactured by Noven Pharmaceuticals of Miami, is a lidocaine transoral delivery patch that is placed directly onto the palate or gums to offer safe, localized numbing. It allows anesthesia to penetrate the gums like water to a sponge, significantly reducing the pain of oral injections. The localized numbing effect lasts approximately 40 minutes when the patch is left in place for 15 minutes.

"DentiPatch is the first FDA approved transoral patch system of any kind, allowing dentists and hygienists to offer patients a true alternative to fears associated with needle injections," says Robert Strauss, chief executive officer of Noven Pharmaceuticals. "In fact, DentiPatch is clinically proven to reduce pain associated with needle injections and may eliminate the need for injections altogether for scaling, root planing and other soft-tissue procedures."

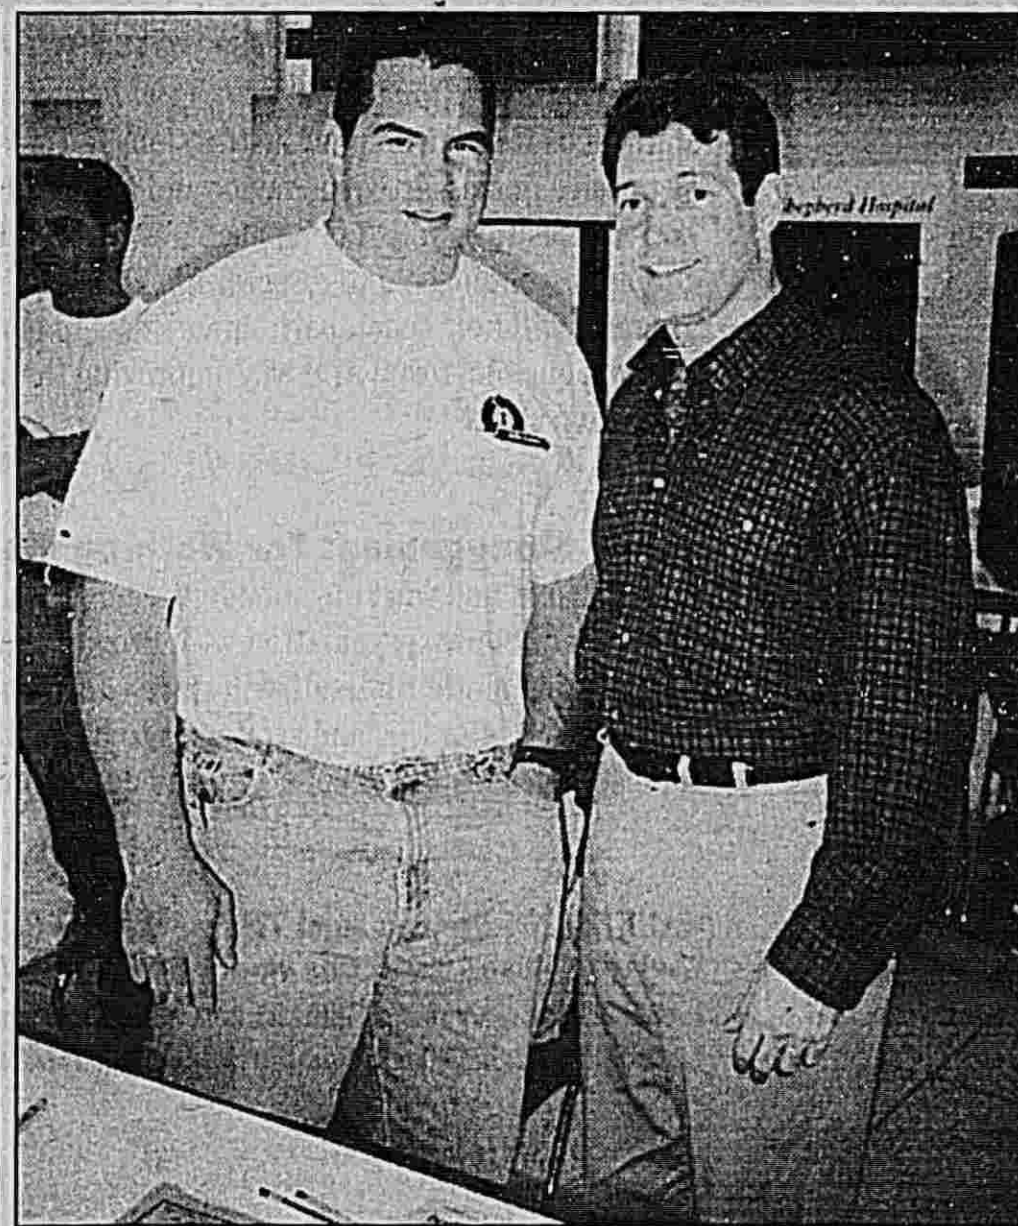

Noven officials estimate that DentiPatch could be used as an effective pain management tool in approximately 450 million injections and soft tissue procedures each year. Anesthesia usually occurs within 2.5 minutes of application. Each DentiPatch is approximately the size of a small paper clip and contains 46.1 mg. of lidocaine.

"DentiPatch is unique because the area of anesthesia is confined to just where the patch is placed," says Elliott V. Hersh, DMD, PhD, University of Pittsburgh School of Dental Medicine and a lead investigator of the DentiPatch clinical trials. "It doesn't have the adverse effect of the 'numb mouth syndrome' so patients are more comfortable and much more amenable to treatment. I find patients are more willing to keep future appointments because they don't fear pain."

After its FDA approval, DentiPatch was successfully test marketed in Georgia and North Carolina. The product is available in dental offices nationwide. More than 20,000 dentists have used the product.

Noven Pharmaceuticals Inc., based in Miami, was founded in 1987 as a research and development company and recently became a fully integrated pharmaceutical company capable of developing, manufacturing and marketing pharmaceutical products that use alternate drug delivery technologies. Noven is publicly traded (NASDAQ: NOVN).

Religious hatred not a pretty sight when done by kids

Dear Dr. Singer, We have recently come upon a problem that we are unsure of how to handle. We are an inter-faith family. I am Jewish and my husband is Protestant. We usually celebrate both holidays and have raised our kids to respect both religions as well as all other religions. My kids don't normally advertise either of the religions, however, recently, with Passover and Easter coming up, it became known that my son is part Jewish. Some boys at school have taken it upon themselves to be harassing my son about this. He has really never come up against anti-Semitism before and I'd like some feedback on some ways to deal with this. It doesn't seem that there is any kind of physical harm going on. Just verbal abuse. Can you suggest anything? R.B.

Dear R. B.,

First, let me say how sorry I am to hear that your son has to deal with this kind of ignorant behavior. The sad thing is that when you hear a child doing this, you can assume that the child has heard it somewhere in their world as well. People don't get born with that type of misinformation. It's usually learned. Unfortunately, it's been going on since the beginning of time and will probably continue forever.

The first thing I would highly suggest is that you seek out counseling about this issue with whatever form of clergy you worship with. There are all kinds of inter-faith groups these days and they talk about helping kids to deal with this type of thing. They may have more specific types of things you can do that will address this issue.

PARENT'S PLACE

On the school front, I would check with the school to see if they are aware of it. Prior to making any large waves, though, I would also talk to your child to determine whether these kids are the type that will up the ante if this is reported or if they are average kids. If they are the type to up the ante, you need to make sure that your child is not in harms way if something is reported. We all like to believe in an ideal world where reporting something protects us and our child. Unfortunately, I've been through enough experiences both personally and with my clients to know that sometimes the report is what fuels the fire and creates a more dangerous situation than it was to begin with. If you trust the personnel at your school to protect your child and appropriately consequence the kids who are doing the harassing, it would be a good direction to go. If you don't trust them and feel that the situation will be made worse by going after it, you might ask your clergy leader for some other suggestions that might be safer and more appropriate.

Talking to your child about this is imperative. He needs to be reassured by you that there are just people in the world who feel that they gain power by hurting others. Religion is only one aspect that gets picked on. There are many others. Unfortunately each of us probably has a story about something that we were picked on about. Your son needs to be helped to feel strongly that both of his religions should be very important to him and very strong for him. That he doesn't need to pay any attention to the messages that are coming from these kids. You can let him know that it's okay to be disappointed in these kid's behavior, but that he shouldn't make any decisions about what he believes based on their opinions. Now, I know that is difficult when you are talking about kids who want to fit in and want to be like everybody else. The one thing you should tell your child not to do is to inflame this in a worse way by returning the insults. This may end up escalating and becoming physical if that is the case.

I hope some of this helps I really encourage you to get in to your congregation and talk about this with members of the clergy. If you don't have a congregation of your own, you might ask around and see if one of your friends can recommend a good place for you to bring this issue. I think that most clergy members would be glad to sit down and talk with you about this. Good luck.

Baby bottle tooth decay is preventable

During the day, when your baby gets fussy, do you give him or her a bottle of milk, fruit juice or sweetened liquid? Do you do the same at naptime or bedtime? Both of these habits can lead to a pattern of serious, early tooth decay known as baby bottle tooth decay says Gretchen Kind, M.D., assistant professor, pediatrics, at River Forest Pediatrics, River Forest, Ill.

Baby bottle tooth decay is a dental condition that can destroy the primary teeth—baby teeth—of an infant or young child. The teeth most likely to be damaged are the upper front teeth, the ones that make such a difference in your child's smile and speech development. But other teeth also may be affected.

"Baby bottle tooth decay is caused by either dipping a pacifier in honey or other type of sweetener before it is given to a child or by frequently exposing a child's teeth for long periods of time to liquids containing sugars," said Kind.

All types of sugars, including those found in milk, formula, fruit juices and sweetened liquids, can cause the bacteria in plaque to produce acids. The sugars in these liquids are used as an energy source by the bacteria in plaque—the thin, almost inevitable film of bacteria and the byproducts that constantly form on teeth. In this process, the bacteria produce acids that attack tooth enamel. Each time your child drinks a liquid containing sugar, acids attack the child's teeth for at least 20 minutes. After many such attacks, tooth decay can occur.

However, it's not just what you put in your child's bottle that causes baby bottle tooth decay, but how often and for how long a time the child's teeth are exposed to decay causing acids. This is why allowing your child to fall asleep with a bottle containing these liquids can do serious harm to the child's teeth. During sleep, the flow of saliva decreases, allowing the liquids in the nursing bottle to pool around the child's teeth for long periods of time.

It is important to take good care of your child's primary teeth as soon as they appear. Children need strong and healthy teeth to chew their food easily and learn to speak clearly. Primary teeth also help to reserve space in the jaw for permanent teeth. If a primary tooth is lost too early in childhood, the remaining teeth may drift into the empty space. When it's time for the permanent tooth to come in, there may not be enough space for it to assume its proper position. This can make the child's teeth crooked or crowded, which can effect the child's dental health and appearance.

"Many parents do not realize that a baby's teeth are susceptible to decay as soon as they appear in the mouth," said Kind.

By the time decay is noticed, it may be too late to save the child's teeth. Parents can prevent tooth decay from occurring in their child's teeth by learning how to protect them.

- At the end of the day, wipe an infant's gums with a clean damp wash cloth to remove any bacteria.
- Never give a child a bottle of milk, juice or sweetened liquid at naptime or bedtime.

- Wean your child off breast and bottle feedings by one year of age, and monitor excessive sucking of pacifiers, fingers and thumbs.

- Discourage "sticky sugar" foods that may stick to the child's teeth (i.e. caramel, gum, toffee).

- As soon as the first tooth appears, begin brushing with a small, soft-bristled toothbrush.

- Begin flossing when the baby teeth have appeared, usually by age two or three.

- Start regular dental visits by the child's first birthday. If you think your child has dental problems, take the child to the dentist sooner.

- Teach the child how to brush his or her own teeth once proper motor skill development has occurred. Use fluoride toothpaste when your child is old enough to use appropriately without swallowing.

"By working with your child at an early age, parents can reduce the risk of tooth decay by educating little ones on the importance of good oral hygiene. Set an example for your child by demonstrating good habits. Emphasize the significance of proper brushing and schedule appointments with a dentist regularly," said Kind.

Victory offers 'problem solver' Miraluma™ breast imaging test

Victory Memorial Hospital is one of only two hospitals in Lake County to offer the recently FDA-approved Miraluma™ breast imaging test.

"The test is for women who have had mammograms or ultrasounds with difficult to interpret results because of dense breast tissue, implants, scarring due to previous biopsies, multiple lumps or calcium deposits in their breasts," says Lawrence Zarlan, M.D. (Board Certified, Radiologist). This nuclear test allows the physician to examine the image of the breast, regardless of these characteristics. Being able to read the correct results from a mammogram or advanced breast imaging can eliminate unnecessary procedures, decrease patient anxiety and assist in early diagnosis of cancer.

Patients find this imaging test to be a relatively painless experience. A small amount of clear radioactive liquid (called Miraluma™) is injected into the bloodstream. It travels through the body, attaches only to cancerous cells (if present) and emits invisible gamma rays. A nuclear medicine technician uses a gamma camera (the same equipment used in some cardiac testing) to take a picture of the breast. Results show an image of the breast with a black spot (spots where the material has attached to cancerous cells) or a breast image without any black spots. A board certified radiologist examines these results to identify where the radioactive material has concentrated.

For more information on the test call Diagnostic Services at Victory Memorial Hospital at 360-4190.

Break through the barrage of excuses for not exercising

Regular exercise is the key to a happier, healthier life, but all too often, exercise and excuses go hand in hand. It's been said over and over again how important exercise is to one's physical and mental well-being, but when it comes down to doing something to change their lifestyles, many people's excuses become greater than their determination.

Those who are motivated to exercise take the time to work out at their local fitness club or participate in other athletic endeavors. But being motivated is the key. Society, more often than not, encourages sedentary, unhealthy lifestyles that are hard to reverse once habit sets in.

Whether you're a once-a-month exerciser or a complete couch potato, the list of benefits to be gained from exercise may be longer than you think.

Besides burning calories, regular exercise can stimulate the mind as well as the body's energy level. The National Cholesterol Education Program maintains that exercising for 15 to 30 minutes three times a week will give you more energy, relieve stress, give added strength to work, allow you to play harder and longer, firm muscles, and allow you to fall asleep easier. Your body becomes a finetuned machine under the influence of regular workouts.

Chances of developing high-risk health problems, like heart disease and obesity, are lessened by exercise. Shaping up and staying fit helps people tackle problems such as high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, diabetes and obesity. The higher your blood cholesterol level, the greater your chances of getting heart disease.

Once you start an exercise program, it's easier to sustain than you may think. And once you start seeing and feeling the results, you won't want to stop. Here are some tips for getting on an exercise binge:

- If you don't already belong to a health club or exercise program, sign up now. Not only will you sleep better, look better and suffer fewer colds and illnesses as a result, but many gyms and clubs run winter membership specials that could prove a substantial cost savings to you.

- Don't exercise without warming up first. Joints are often stiff and muscles contracted in colder weather. A good warm-up regimen consists of movements simply to get the joints and muscles working.

- Jogging is a great aerobic workout, and you don't need a health club to incorporate this activity into your daily routine.

- Walking for fitness can be incorporated into busy days or your lunch hour. It requires only comfortable shoes and clothing. Take along your dog or portable music player and headphones.

- Replenish your body with plenty of liquids always, especially during exercise. Drinking lots of water will not only cleanse your body of toxins, but will retain the moisture balance in your skin.

Remember, incorporating an exercise program into your daily routine involves time management, planning and flexibility on your part.

Bark if your joints hurt: managing canine osteoarthritis

Like people, dogs often experience the painful and crippling effects of arthritis, and their owners are faced with the challenge of recognizing and alleviating their discomfort. The key is to look for subtle changes in behavior, says Steve Fox, MS, DVM, MBA, Ph.D., senior technical services veterinarian for Pfizer Animal Health located in Easton, Pa.

"If you see signs of pain, stiffness and lameness, you should seek consultation from your veterinarian," Fox advises. "Unfortunately, because pets can't tell their owners if and where they hurt, it can be difficult to know when an animal is in pain."

But, Fox adds that the physiological mechanism of pain perception is common to both humans and animals, so a guideline to follow is that, if you think the disease, injury or procedure would cause you discomfort, you can assume it will do the same to your pet.

Dogs display a wide variety of responses to pain. They may be violent and vocalize, or be quiet, withdrawn and inactive. They may be aggressive when approached, as they try to protect themselves from further pain, or they may be subdued. Their ears may lay flat against their head, and/or they may lick the affected area.

The signs of osteoarthritis

A change in your pet's behavior can be a sign that something is wrong. Osteoarthritis is a chronic condition that progressively manifests itself over time, explains Fox. Pain, stiffness and lameness increase as the condition worsens. The associated behavioral changes become more apparent as the condition becomes more severe.

It is important to observe your pets closely for the signs of osteoarthritis, including:

- Decreased activity
- Reluctance to walk, run, climb stairs, jump or play
- Stiffness
- Limping
- Difficulty rising from a resting position

- Lagging behind on walks
- Soreness when touched
- Yelping or whimpering in pain
- Acting aggressive or withdrawn
- Exhibiting other personality changes

"If you notice any of these changes, see your veterinarian," states Fox. "The sooner the condition is recognized, the sooner the pet can be helped."

The importance of pain relief

Osteoarthritis is a progressive, degenerative condition affecting an estimated 20 percent of all adult dogs, according to market research conducted by Pfizer Animal Health. Because osteoarthritis progresses over time, the signs of the disease usually proceed from "mild" to "moderate" to "severe". As the disease advances, so does the need to address the pain, lameness and discomfort.

"Providing pain relief is the compassionate response," Fox continues. "People are adverse to pain, as are pets. However, your pet's comfort is largely in your hands. Instinctively, an animal will seek comfort—for example, avoiding painful movements and protecting injuries—but pain relief through medication can only be provided by human caretakers, whether it be the veterinarian or an owner acting on a veterinarian's advice."

In addition, pain relief fills another important role. "Pain is a form of stress, and pain-induced distress can have a variety of negative effects on the overall health of the animal," Fox states.

An animal with chronic pain—pain that is long-term, resulting from a disease, injury or degenerative condition—often becomes inactive and no longer wishes to play and romp. The lack of activity can cause weight gain which exacerbates the arthritis. An animal in untreated acute pain may actually be dangerous, because of its natural response to protect itself.

Just as no two people feel exactly the same level of pain from a broken leg, surgical procedure or arthritis, pets also vary greatly in how they experience and express pain. As a result, the treatment program, especially the type and dosage of medication needed to alleviate painful signs, may also vary between individual animals.

New pain relief medication

"It's essential that your veterinarian be involved in prescribing the appropriate pain relief medication and treatment program for osteoarthritis in dogs," Fox notes. "Only a veterinarian can properly diagnose osteoarthritis, and he or she will know best how to determine the proper medication and dosage."

While some human medications have been used in dogs, animals react very differently to many of these drugs than people, especially in terms of side effects. Until now, most treatment options have involved human medications, but it's important to note that aspirin, acetaminophen, ibuprofen and a number of other human pain medications that are licensed for use in humans have not been proven safe for use in animals.

Recently, however, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved a new drug, Rimadyl (carprofen), specifically for the safe and effective treatment of pain and inflammation in dogs. A product from Pfizer Animal Health, Rimadyl is the first non-steroidal, anti-inflammatory (NSAID) drug of its class cleared for use in dogs to effectively relieve pain and inflammation.

"Through extensive testing, it was proven that Rimadyl is both highly safe and effective in alleviating the painful signs of canine osteoarthritis, for both first-time and long-term use," states Fox. "Which makes it possible for owners to restore quality of life to America's best friend."

Mixing business and pleasure

*Green Oaks' Polo Park preserves open space while

Managing Editor

A love for both the game of polo and open space has brought flooding relief, jobs and tax dollars to Green Oaks.

It's an unlikely combination and one which has been getting the attention of business owners around the nation.

Green Oak's Polo Park is a 60-acre business park featuring 28 building sites and a polo horse farm in the midst of it.

Polo Park is the brainchild of Richard Tauber, who has lived on the Green Oaks property since purchasing it from the Heinz Ketchup family in 1963. The renovated farm house was once the summer home of the Heinz family and today is Tauber and wife, Erma's summer residence.

The land was leased for farming until 1995, when Tauber decided it was time to develop the land. He wanted to maintain the Polo Pony farm and pastures on the development and Polo Park came to be.

"Horses are first with my dad," said Bill Tauber, an insurance agent and polo horse trainer. "Whatever he did with the property the horses were his first consideration."

The elder Tauber was in the horse business for a number of years then sold automobiles at dealerships in Chicago, Libertyville and McHenry. Throughout his life, Tauber has loved the game of polo and riding has been his passion.

At 78 years of age, Tauber says polo remains his dad's "fountain of youth." The Taubers reside in Palm Springs, Calif., in the winter along with their eight polo horses, then return to the Green Oaks site for the summer season.

The Taubers have found the polo horses are a great draw for business owners, employees and residents of the area.

"Once the horses return in May the employees in the business park are out here each lunch hour. They jog around the pastures. People say they find the horses help them to reduce stress."

On weekends families come by the site on Bradley Road and pet and feed the horses.

"This is the last horse farm east of the tollway," Tauber said.

The business park development has garnered much attention from commercial developers around the nation who find the concept of mixing agriculture with open space with a business park appealing.

"We have had great success here," Tauber said. "We are 60 percent full and a couple of years ahead of our projections." Tauber said their appeal is unique especially given the strict code his father has placed on businesses in the park.

"Our park is more expensive to build in than others in the area and my father will only accept well-established businesses," he said. The businesses in the park are all light-industrial or office in use.

New program to reduce crashes in Lake County

By Leslie Piotrowski
Staff Reporter

Lake County drivers face a sobering reality. Every year, numerous preventable crashes occur due to drunk driving and speeding.

The Illinois Department of Transportation reports that in 1995 alone, 17,318 crashes occurred in the county resulting in approximately 61 deaths.

This year, Lake County officials expect a substantial decrease in the number of crashes through the creation of the Stayin' Alive task force.

"The program's mission is to reduce the number of traffic-related deaths and injuries in the county by combining the efforts and resources of a wide variety of agencies, organizations, businesses and individuals," said Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re. "We want to save lives."

In support of the Stayin' Alive program, the Illinois Department of

The grant will make it possible for the Sheriff's Department to provide 40 hours of overtime traffic enforcement on a weekly basis, as well as an additional 32 hours of overtime pay each week to the Grayslake, Lake Zurich, Libertyville, Lake Forest and Round Lake Beach communities. All police agencies participating in the program will increase their patrol hours and conduct roadside safety checks.

"Drunk driving is one of the most devastating things that can happen to people in Lake County," said Chief Richard Klatsco of the Grayslake Police Department. "There were nine fatalities in Grayslake last year that were caused by drunk driving, speeding or failure to wear seatbelts. We're doing our part to help reduce this problem."

The grant is funded by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation, and will be administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Traffic Safety.

Carter's impact legislation will prohibit village from slashing school impact fees

By LEON FILAS
Staff Reporter

The Illinois State Senate approved legislation April 6 that would allow schools to impose impact fees on developers of residential subdivisions.

Lake County Chairman of the Board Robert L. Grever said the legislative proposal sponsored by Senator William Peterson, (R) 26 District, passed in the state senate Wednesday. The bill was transferred to the Illinois House, where it was picked up by State Rep.'s Charles Hartke (Dist. 108) and Mark Beaubien, Jr. (Dist. 52).

Grever also stated that County Board Member Bonnie Thomson Carter, District 5, was instrumental in getting the legislation initiated.

"Through the annexation process, municipalities can agree upon any mutually acceptable impact fees for virtually any purpose, in return for which the municipality would approve the proposed residential development and furnish public service," Grever stated. "Because of this disparity, taxpayers bear the disproportionate burden of funding school expenses attributable to new residential development. Too often, school capital facilities' costs have been underfunded as a result."

Coincidentally, the legislation was passed in the wake of a bitter battle between the Village of Volo and the Village of Fox Lake. The battle is over a local developer who was invited to annex into Volo for 33 percent of the school impact fee's that Fox Lake was asking.

MIXING: Horses peacefully coexist in business park setting

The use of open space in the industrial park is not only appealing to the developers and business owners and employees, the land use of the park has helped to alleviate flooding in the area.

"When the tollway widened the road about three years ago, the additional pavement reduced the natural drainage capabilities of the roadway. As we constructed Polo Park we built a retention pond and improved drainage at Bradley Road so the water drained under the curb instead of beside the curb and alleviated flooding for the businesses in the area," Tauber said. A 20,000 square foot retention pond is located at the rear of the property and is adjacent to Lake County Forest Preserve land. The retention pond now holds the water and it is slowly released back into the area, detoxified.

"We have a very aggressive storm water management program and it has benefited the entire community," Tauber said.

The work done at Polo Park has prompted the Village of Green Oaks to change their zoning laws to require under the curb drainage on future development.

"Polo Park has become a model for commercial development in Lake County and the nation," Tauber said. Tom Towne, the operations manager for the park brings visitors to see the park on a continual basis.

"It looks like the park will be completed in five years," Tauber said. "We had originally thought it would take at least seven years to reach build out."

LOOTING: Bill will stop villages from slashing school fees

38 and Grant High School District 124 will face severe overcrowding and have a lack of funds to help the problem.

"It is widely recognized now that new residential developments burden school districts beyond the price of land for new schools," Lake County Regional Superintendent of Schools Ed Gonwa stated. "The school may have enough space for building expansions, yet often cannot cover the cost of building any additions without straining the school district budget to the breaking point."

"This legislation goes a long way toward achieving fairness for developers and taxpayers alike," Thomson Carter added. "This legislation allows the schools the flexibility that they have not had."

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Women's club continues

Wauconda—Sixty years ago, a group of Californian women started holding meetings where they would talk about fashions, different ways to decorate their homes and ways to empower themselves. Now, 60 years later, the Christian Women's Club has 2,000 different clubs all across North America and in 20 countries across the world. And, according to Betty Larsen of Wauconda, not much has changed.

Larsen, a Wauconda resident for more than 40 years, has been involved with the Northwest Suburban Christian Women's Club for 30 years, and is currently the area representative. The club meets once a month, usually for luncheons, at the Concorde Banquets on Rand Road, just north of Quentin Road, in Kildeer. In May, they will meet for an evening dinner May 14.

"It is enjoyable programs, usually held at popular restaurants or country clubs," Larsen said. "We entertain and inform women with practical ideas, and quality music and interesting features."

Russian officials to visit

Mundelein—The village's police department has been selected as the only Lake County destination of Russian police training officers who are scheduled to visit the village in one week. "We are very excited about this," said Mundelein Police Lt. Wallace Frasier, who is coordinating the visit with the Illinois Police Training Center at the University of Illinois at Champaign-Urbana.

The center has scheduled a two-week visit for 15 of the Russian dignitaries as part of the "Illinois/Russia Police Exchange: The Bridge Between Two Eras." The foreign guests will visit eight suburban police departments in the collar county area, as well as observing the Chicago Police Department and the police department's at the University of Illinois-Chicago and Illinois State University, said Lois Welling, administrative aide of the University of Illinois Police.

Their stop in Mundelein will occur April 20, with either one or two of the Russian officers coming to the village, Frasier said, with a mission of exchange training technologies and methodologies. "They want to get as much information of our American suburban police department operations and bring it back with them to Russia," Frasier said.

Development turmoil remains

Round Lake—As the year turns from winter into spring, the battle lines between Marianne Amann, the Pritzker Development and the Village of Round Lake remains quiet.

Yet, much like a duck swimming in the water, on the surface everything is calm while underneath the surface remains a constant turmoil of rushing water.

"They're stuck right now," Marianne Amann stated over the phone, describing the plight of Round Lake and the Pritzkers. "They realize if they try and take my easement, I'm landlocked, while they can't build sewers without my land."

These allegations are unfounded and untrue according to James Magee, attorney for the Village of Round Lake. They are simply awaiting the court date, scheduled for October, before any momentum in the case can move.

Miller farms annexation in question

Volo—With questions of wrong doing surrounding the possible annexation of Miller Farms to the village of Volo, Mayor Brunell Russell spoke out publicly for the first time, telling people his grand plan for the future of Volo.

"In order for Volo to have controlled growth and to develop in a manner we can all be proud of," Russell read from a prepared statement. "The village needs to have sanitary sewer service."

Brunell is under fire from residents and other village's as of late for coming to terms of annexation with Miller Farms and Prime Development. The terms of annexation would provide $900 towards school impact fee's, one third of the impact fee's that the Western Lake County School District Consortium asked for.

Workshop slated for seniors

Libertyville—A workshop targeting seniors and the issues they face will be held on Saturday, April 18.

"Great Expectations, the best is yet to come," is an all-day workshop focused on helping area seniors learn to embrace aging rather than deny it.

JUST MISSED IT

Over 25 speakers will address seniors on topics ranging from "Antioxidants - Are they the fountain of youth?" to "When do I give the keys to my kids?" to "Who gets grandma's yellow pie plate."

Registration for the event, which costs $10, will be held from 8 to 9 a.m., with an opening presentation with music from Credo, of Holy Cross, slated for 9 to 9:25 a.m.

The workshop will be held at Oak Grove School, 1700 O'Plaine Rd., in Green Oaks.

Celebrates Earth-Arbor Day

Lindenhurst—Lindenhurst will sponsor Earth-Arbor Day Saturday, April 18 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Village Hall.

A two hour village clean-up is followed by lunch for volunteers and special animal education attractions. Earth-Arbor Day events are free and will be underway rain or shine.

The village clean-up is from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

From 11 a.m. to noon, there are free hot dogs and beverages. Girl Scouts will be selling baked goods.

From noon to two p.m., there will be educational booths and exhibits in the public works garage.

Part of the event is an Earth-Arbor Day raffle of an installed flowering crab tree. Donations are $1 a ticket or $5 for six tickets. Horvat Nurseries & Greenhouses have donated the $200 tree and installation.

"The last couple of years the turnout has been getting higher," said Jim Stevens, Lindenhurst village manager. Julie Clausing, village trustee and event coordinator, said that there were about 300 people at last year's event.

Library board to solicit citizen input

Libertyville—Perhaps extending an olive branch to critics, the Cook Memorial Library Board has invited opponents to its March 17 referendum to its next meeting, to be held on Tuesday, April 21, in the Library's Story Room.

The meeting will be the board's first since its proposed referendum was defeated, by a 3-1 margin across the district.

Cook Library board president Joe Bean has invited Libertyville Mayor Duane Laska, as well as referendum critics Mike Kollman and Doug Hansmann and other interested citizens, to present their ideas for solving the library's space needs at the meeting.

Easter Parade and egg hunt set

Antioch—The start of Antioch's annual series of community parades begins Saturday with the Easter Parade to Williams Park for the Eggcellent Easter Adventure.

The parade will start at the Antioch Community High School parking lot at 10:30 a.m. and will feature floats, fire trucks, scouts, marchers, and pageant queens representing area communities.

Children ages 1 to 10 who have registered for the egg hunt will be able to search for ten eggs at the park after the parade.

"We'll get a lot of people registering this week," said Laurie Stahl, Parks and Recreation Director. "Please pre-register at the park office before 5 p.m. on Friday."

The Park and Recreation Department office is at Village Hall, 874 Main Street. There is a $2 fee for each child who participates in the egg hunt.

There is a chance to register on Saturday too. "We will take registrations before the hunt at the pool office at the Little League Field," Stahl said.

School apologizes for brain teaser

Gurnee—A Woodland Dist. 50 parent voiced concerns over what she believes was inappropriate material for a middle school morning brain teaser.

Vicky Fernandez challenged school officials regarding the "Mercury Minute", a riddle read by students after being distributed to homerooms at Woodland Middle School.

Speaking at a community forum sponsored by the Woodland School Board, Fernandez said the April 6 brain teaser gave the wrong message about alcohol and prostitution to teenagers. The material included a question about drinks and a bar setting.

"This is not something we should be amused about at all," Fernandez, a parent of two Woodland students, said.

School board president Jerry Hinkley said this is the first time he has heard of the questionable riddle.

School officials said new guidelines have been in place, as three people now read the Mercury Minute before it is distributed to students. That did not take place April 6.

"It is embarrassing. The district apologizes because that Mercury Minute sends the wrong message. It will not happen again," Dr. Dennis Conti, superintendent, said.

The Tuesday night community forum drew about 20 residents to the Woodland Middle School learning resource center. A wide variety of topics were addressed, from block scheduling to school bus discipline to special education services.

On April 25, 1890, George Strang, a Scottish immigrant, opened Strang's Funeral Home on Center Street in Grayslake.

Today his grandson David Strang still runs the business along with his partner Richard A. Gaddis.

The Grayslake Municipal Historical Museum is featuring a year-long exhibit on the funeral home with loaned items from the Strang family. They range from the nostalgic, an acetylene torch lamp, to a 1923 coach lamp from the funeral homes' first horseless hearse, to the unusual, an embalming machine from the 1920s.

George operated the funeral home on Center St. from 1898 to 1926. His son Harold then operated the funeral home from 1926 up until his death in 1961. David, who is now 67, joined his father in 1952, after serving as an Army Paratrooper in the 82nd Airborne Division during the Korean conflict.

Strang's moved to the current location at 410 E. Belvidere Road in 1958.

Library needs to be in step with patrons

The Cook Memorial Library board is taking a step in the right direction by inviting critics of their expansion plan to make presentations at their next meeting. All library district residents have been invited to attend the meeting, April 21st and express their views on expansion. The library board is quickly trying to recoup after voters downed, nearly three to one, their referendum to fund expansion by adding a second facility in the Vernon Hills area and renovating the current downtown Libertyville site.

The space problems at Cook Memorial Library are certainly not new. The library board has grappled with several plans in recent years to find a way to expand space and services to area residents.

The overwhelming response from residents on expansion has been to keep the library downtown. The Village of Libertyville, along with its business community, has invested significant dollars into making MainStreet Libertyville a national showcase. They have stated time and time again their desire for the library to stay downtown.

In recent years, the village board, in response to queries from the library board, has offered $1 million in the form of parking enhancements which would benefit the downtown facility. After years of working toward a desirable solution to keep the library downtown, the library board suddenly called the plan "unworkable" and opted instead to put forth a plan for a second facility at the southern end of the library district.

Perhaps the motivation behind this new plan was money. Money donated to the library district by property developers. The developers of Gregg's Landing on the former Cuneo property offered $15,000 to the library referendum committee for use during the failed campaign. Money was also donated by Town and County Homes and the John F. Cuneo Trust. Not coincidentally, the only precincts approving the referendum were in the Vernon Hills portion of the district near where the new facility would have been built. Even votes there were lukewarm to the idea.

Perhaps tax-free money to aid in the campaign for a new facility was too good for the library district to pass-up. After all, raising funds for library expansion is never easy and rarely is money pledged to support library facilities.

But, the library district, in an effort to do it easier, found out quickly that residents of the district would rather keep the library downtown.

We applaud the district for picking up the pieces and attempting to move toward a workable downtown solution once again.

We wonder if developer donations will still be available for facility improvements at the historic building in Cook Park?

Whatever the costs in "non-taxing" money, the library needs to get in step with the patrons it serves, who have reiterated year after year that they want their library downtown.

Time for IRS overhaul

Taxes. With April 15th looming it's a subject at the forefront of most Americans' minds. Taxes have bothered Americans since the early days. American patriots with the battle cry "taxation without representation is tyranny" launched the Boston Tea Party. It was one step on the road to Democracy.

Humorist Benjamin Franklin gave the world the much quoted "but in the world nothing can be said to be certain, except death and taxes," in a letter to the Frenchman Jean-Baptiste Leroy after the U.S. Constitution was framed.

George Bush quipped, "Read my lips no new taxes," during the presidential campaign of 1988. Voters remembered what he forgot, and sent Bill Clinton to the White House in 1992.

Steve Forbes got the nation talking during the 1996 presidential primary by bringing forth his idea of a flat tax.

And, those politicians waiting in the wings to kick-off the year 2000 presidential campaign, have already begun scrambling to find a better system of extracting income tax from the American tax payer. It may well be the pivotal argument of the campaign season.

The year 1997 saw the IRS get a very large black eye as citizens from around the country testified before Congress about their tragic and abusive dealings with the Internal Revenue Service.

With each passing tax year, Americans pay a larger percentage of their income in federal taxes under a system many feel deeply penalizes the middle class and alienates the poor and the very rich.

The IRS needs to reconsider tax breaks for items which have a profound affect on the success of our society.

Tax breaks should be considered for the payment of college tuition and private school education and a more realistic child care credit needs to be established.

Let's hope tax reform is not the health care reform issue of the next presidential campaign or Americans will once again be left disappointed.

Public deserves facts on asbestos

About eight months after lumps of asbestos were discovered on the Lake Michigan beach near Illinois Beach State Park, the public learned about it in a report issued by the Dept. of Natural Resources. State Sen. Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills) rightly expressed his indignation to the agency because he and other public officials were kept in the dark about the asbestos find and its potential risks.

The agency admitted it was a "screw-up" and they should have notified Sen. Link. The spokesperson said that the public was not notified because "they weren't sure" whether the beach debris posed a public hazard or not. She said that "it depended on who you talked to."

My position on issues such as this is that "the public has a right to know." In other words, give the public the facts, and they can make their own informed decisions. There is no harm in sharing information with the public; there is greater danger in hiding vital information from the public.

SEEING IT THROUGH

Finding asbestos debris near the lakefront is as surprising as finding apples near an apple orchard. After all, asbestos products from the Johns-Manville plant were dumped in and near Lake Michigan for many years. That's the way "you did business" in those days and everyone seemed to know it. Those were the days when the blue waters of Lake Michigan turned orange along steel industries, open pipes drained acids from some industries into Lake Michigan and other inland waterways feeding into the lake. The PCB problems in Waukegan Harbor were spawned during those days and are still with us.

Of course, there's over a million tons of asbestos and other waste buried at the Superfund asbestos dump on Johns-Manville property. That was supposed to be "capped" with clay in 1991 and it is supposed to be monitored. The point is that there is a heap of asbestos in the area so chunks of it floating onto the beach shouldn't be a surprise.

What should be a surprise is that the state of Illinois was even considering an offer by Johns-Manville to rid itself of some or all of the 300 acres owned by the company just south of the state park. Johns-Manville filed bankruptcy in 1982 and a trust fund has paid almost $2 billion dollars in damage claims,

VIEWPOINT

Have townships served their purpose?

Townships throughout the state of Illinois will hold their annual town meetings April 14. It is an annual rite of passage for the most local form of government.

Years ago, town meetings brought standing room only crowds and many questions about road work and the use of general assistance funds. If you were to attend one today, you wouldn't likely find anyone in attendance except the elected officials and maybe a reporter or two.

Today, many Illinois residents probably can't tell you what township they live in. People identify with their municipal government rather than their township.

As unincorporated lands quickly disappear across Lake County, township government's role is becoming harder to define. Today, the principal role of township government is to provide a home to the township tax assessor, who handles the enormous burden of updating home assessments yearly. A secondary role is to dispense general assistance funds to those in need. Many townships run athletic and recreational programs for their residents, while other have special services for seniors.

Libertyville Township made land preservation its active role many years ago. Warren Township, under the leadership of Susan Simpson, is pondering a similar mission.

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

McHenry County considered a referendum to abolish township government a couple of years back. It didn't garner much support, but land use in McHenry County is still largely agricultural. Lake County's farm fields are all but history. There has been a ground swell in Lake County from time to time to eliminate township government primarily as a cost savings effort.

Township government does not come without cost. Salaries for supervisor, assessor, road commissioner and clerk, even when modest, easily total well more than $100,000 annually. Many township elected officials have a 9-5 job as well as their elected township job.

How long township government continues to be viable to Lake County residents may well depend on how township government chooses to approach fund expenditures into the next century.

Grant and Fremont townships are both currently expanding recreational services to residents in their areas. Warren has become involved in literacy programs as well as mentoring programs, which bring senior citizens and school children together.

Other Lake County townships, such as Deerfield, Shields and Zion have little or no roadways left to plow during the winter or patch in summer's heat. However, in Antioch, Fremont and Grant townships, residents rely heavily on road crews to clear their pathways. Absence of township government would only move cost to Lake County's highway department and increase wait time.

As more lands become annexed into villages, a Lake County vote on the validity of township government almost certainly looms in the not too distant future.

Let's hope township governments will take a hard look at their worth to area taxpayers and provide needed services while minimizing administrative cost.

Perhaps a referendum in each individual township for elimination will be the wave of the future.

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Neighbors may do battle for county board seat

Craig Sherman, executive director of the Lake County Democratic Committee, has hung out an available sign for slating to oppose incumbent county Board Rep. David Stolman (R-Buffalo Grove) in the November general election.

Sherman and Stolman have been neighbors for more than 15 years. Once upon a time, when Stolman was still a Democrat, Sherman worked on his campaigns.

Sherman is a true blue Democrat in good Democratic territory while Stolman still is regarded as a turncoat Republican. So the reasoning is that Sherman could make a real contest. And he ought to be on good terms with the Democratic slate committee. Right?

Mourning

Democrats are mourning the death of Phil Straus, their 10th district representative to the state central committee. The Highland Park resident had battled cancer for a number of years. He passed away Tuesday, April 7. Straus was just re-elected to the post at the county convention and had been active in the party for a number of years. He will be missed.

Churchill future

Reports are circulating that State Rep. Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) will wind up as an aide to House Minority Leader Lee Daniels in the next session of the General Assembly if he doesn't take an appointment for a state bureau following his unsuccessful bid for secretary of state.

And the political murmurs are turning to loud whispers that Churchill is in line for the post now held by State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion). How so? Geo-Karis, after waltzing to another four-year term this fall, will resign in a few years and hand-pick her successor, Bob Churchill. Geo-Karis just cele-

Garrett gaining Democratic strategists are excited about the prospects of Susan Garrett, 48, of Lake Forest, winning a General Assembly seat from the 59th District along the North Shore despite the fact that the 59th has a 67 percent GOP voter registration.

Garrett, a marketing professional, hasn't stopped campaigning since the March primary. One of her stops is Saturday mornings at the North Chicago post office. Garrett is strong on women's issues that appeal to independents and Republican women. The seat currently is held by State Rep. Corrine Wood (R-Lake Forest), who is a nominee for lieutenant governor.

Garrett is facing Christopher Stride, best known for his work in the Lake County State's Attorney's office.

Bouquets, not bombs

Citizen members watchdog BEST tossed a bouquet to Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent of Antioch High School, at a combined meeting of the Antioch, Lake Villa and Lindenhurst Chambers of Commerce.

Hockney had just finished describing how an $8 million improvement project will be accomplished without a tax increase, when Alan Knutsen, BEST president, arose and declared: "I think we should applaud all the good thinking that has gone into this. I think you gentlemen deserve a round of applause." At that, the room was filled with applause. BEST helped defeat a school referendum four years ago prior to Hockney's arrival.

Retirement sure beats working

After breakfast on a recent miserable Monday, while most folks were sloshing through rain and sleet on their way to work, I poured myself into an easy chair and began looking for a good movie on television.

"Retirement's a pretty good life, isn't it?" observed my wife, Janice, smiling because she knows I've never been happier.

Hey, it's my anniversary! I retired from full-time newspaper work five years ago. My only frustration is the years are flying by as fast as a frog on roller skates.

My advice to young people is to make scads of money while in their 20s and 30s, so they can retire at age 40 when in many respects life truly does begin.

That much moolah being difficult to accumulate, if one must work he or she should follow the advice Kathie Lee Gifford got from her father: "Find something you love and figure out a way to make money at it."

I was fortunate in that respect; I spent almost 40 years in the newspaper business where there is never a dull moment, where the work is constantly on the cutting edge. It's true that newsprint gets into your blood and any other kind of job reeks of boredom.

Newspaper people are a stimulating lot, dedicated, zany, irreverent and fun-loving. Few workplaces offer such a lively environment.

And lately I've been lucky enough to turn my writing into a retirement hobby, thanks to my editors at Lakeland Newspapers.

Five years ago as I was pondering the plunge into retirement, some who preceded me frowned. Beyond the world of work, they cautioned, lurks a twilight zone of boredom, of not having enough to do; of not feeling vital.

THE PFARR CORNER

Jerry Pfarr

Others of us beg to differ. There aren't enough hours in the day. My local library has 80,000 books I haven't read, my movie guide lists more than 1,000 four-star films I managed to miss, there are about 200 golf courses within an hour's drive. During the season, I get to golf about four times a week with a great gang of guys at Spring Valley Country Club, just a few miles north of my Antioch home.

I asked some of my golf pals what they liked most about being retired. Their answers:

"Every day is Sunday. I love it."

"I threw away my alarm clock and my wristwatch. My neckties have disappeared, too."

"Nobody ever died wishing they had spent more time at the office."

To borrow a cliché from Shakespeare, we now feel the world is our oyster.

Some of those old biblical graybeards apparently had the secret to longevity and aging gracefully. Methuselah, Noah's grandpa, is said to have lived 969 years. So I have only about 900 to go, and the way time flies when you're having fun, that should be a piece of cake (with an awful lot of candles).

Meanwhile, as Janice reminded me the other day: "A lake, a golf course and a fireplace; that's about as good as it gets."

SEEING: Public must be kept informed on health issues mostly for asbestos in cancer claims of former employees.

The thing that Johns-Manville would like to escape is LIABILITY. With all of those dangerous products at and under its doorstep, who would want to accept liability? Surely, not the TAXPAYERS.

Well, the good news is that the Dept. of Natural Resources did turn down the bid by Johns-Manville to consider the purchase of some or all of the property. That should relieve the taxpayers, at least for awhile.

It may be that discovering the amounts of asbestos lumps along the shore may be a blessing in disguise. It highlights the very controversial and dangerous nature of the property just south of the state park. The state of Illinois has an obligation to protect its own valuable asset of state park property, and it must always have one eye opened southward to guarantee that further damage does not occur at the adjoining property. Considering the liability issue, I would guess that the property in question will be vacant for many years to come. That may be the best protection the public would have.

Robert Grosso is the Superintendent of Illinois Beach State Park. I have known him for many years, and I believe him to be a true professional and a conservation-minded public servant. He's done an outstanding job, often handicapped because the state hasn't always provided the necessary funds to upgrade the heaviest-attended state park in Illinois.

I was dismayed that his "superiors" reprimanded Grosso for not being properly in uniform when he was called to appear on TV in regards to the asbestos incident. That was plain stupid on the agency's part. It is more important to me that Bob Grosso stands for what is right on the asbestos issue; he speaks out to protect the public's health, the environment, and the well-being of the public and the parks system. The Bob Grosso I know won't back away from anyone when it comes to what he believes in, so he doesn't need me to speak in his defense. But, I respect him enough to do it, anyhow.

Hopefully, instead of "screwing up" as the agency has admitted and instead of "dressing down" one of its professionals in a nit-picking way, the Dept. of Natural Resources may have learned that the public in general must be informed from start to finish. After all, who owns the state park? I have to keep reminding that to the bureaucrats.

It's the TAXPAYERS—and they pay your salary, too.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

America is a sinking nation

Senator Moynihan calls it "defining deviancy down." Two recent judicial decisions are perfect illustrations of how our fueling elites will accept any conduct, no matter how reprehensible, as long as those accused of the conduct are "politically correct."

I can't bring myself to publicly describe what Paula Jones accused President Clinton of, but some how this sickening accusation, even if true, is not "an outrageous tort" worthy of a jury trial, according to a federal judge. Another group of federal judges (6th Circuit Court of Appeals and six Supreme Court Justices) has said the definition of "partial birth abortion" ("purposely inserting a suction device into the skull of a fetus to reach the brain") would also outlaw "the much more common 'dilation and evacuation' method used earlier in pregnancy to compress the fetus' head by using suction." (New York Times, March 24, A15). Pray tell, how are either of these horrendous abortion procedures any different than the Holocaust "experiments" of Dr. Joseph Mengele?

It's fitting the most popular movie of our time is "Titanic." Our nation maybe the biggest and richest ever, the economic party we are having is the most fabulous ever seen, but the people who steer this country are morally bankrupt and criminally negligent. Unfortunately, when a nation sinks, a lot more people are lost than when an ocean liner sinks.

Kids shooting kids

Isn't it shocking about those children shooting those other children in Arkansas? There is something we can do about it. Children should not be shooting guns, even if their fathers want to go hunting with them. Why don't you try playing basketball or baseball, or go fishing with your son. You don't need to teach him how to use a gun. They are going to imitate what they see on T.V. They are not mature enough to handle it. You have to be 18 to join the armed services. Let's change the law so that no one can use a gun or take classes to use one until they are 18.

Another accident

It happened again. There was another accident on Bacon Road and Rte. 60. When cars have to get on to Rte. 60, there is that slope that doesn't allow people to see the cars coming from the West going East. And of course, in the morning when the sun is up, and you look towards the left, you can't see because you are blinded. We should have a stop and go light there. I don't know why we have to wait for Springfield to approve it. If the town and villages get together, and get enough money, let's just put one in there.

Round Lake Park

Time change

Upon receiving a notice from the Round Lake school district #116, that the borders and starting times are being changed next year, I became very upset. The one hour difference will create a huge problem for my family. If this time change is creating a problem for any of you, please go to the board meeting, April 16, at 7 p.m. at the district office. Or call them. If enough people complain, maybe they will do something about it.

Watchdogs

Is there anyone else besides me who is sick of hearing Sharon Desjardins, Mary Jane Lucas and Ross Godrich, complain about the Grayslake park district board? These three people were sadly defeated in the last election. These self appointed watchdogs are the ones who are really wasting our tax dollars, by making the park staff answer dozens of requests. If you want to see how ridiculous these people are, you should attend the park district meeting and watch these people in action. Let's get out and show support for the park district staff and volunteers.

Sign-up sheet

I am wondering how the village can start planning the downtown area without the permission of the people. They do not have the signatures to change Rte. 22 yet, nor did they have a sign up sheet for those who didn't want it. This is not fair.

Lake Zurich

prescription glasses for a lady. Please come get them.

Fox Lake

Street parking

I would like to comment about an article I read, where all of a sudden there was parking available, but now the parking is gone. They just took them out and didn't tell anyone they were going to do it. What if I was going to have a party, where would people park? They can't park in the streets.

Vernon Hills

Then help us!

I am 17 years old, and I have lived in this place my whole life. People moving in seem to be complaining about how bad this community is. If they really don't want to live here, they should get out. I have spent my whole life trying to clean this place up, trying to help my parents rid people of drugs, and I am sick of people complaining and moaning. If you are going to do so, why don't you get off your lazy posteriors and do something that is worthwhile, instead of judging everyone as losers. I wish people would help clean up this community, not only for my generation, but for the generations after.

Round Lake Beach

Good people

A couple evenings ago, I was driving through Round Lake Park. I started to have car trouble, so I pulled into a restaurant parking lot. I would like to thank them for letting me use their telephone, and giving me some good food. I would also like to thank the Round Lake Park police station for giving me a ride. Thank guys. You really make a community go round.

Fox Lake

Gang member

I am a gang member from Chicago, and I'll tell you why we are in gangs. It's because there is nothing else to do in this town. Why don't you build a teen dance center or a basketball court at the beach. Adults don't even want us to walk in streets. And what are the police going to do? Most of the gang members out here are fake anyway. You have to stop the fake people, you can never stop the real ones.

Round Lake Beach

New columnist

I would like to commend the newspaper for having former state Rep. John S. Matjevich as a columnist. He certainly does have a liberal view of things, and he is the type of legislature that should be back in Springfield.

Nothing being done

I am calling to complain about the no parking signs and speed limit signs in Fox Lake. We complain to the police officers, about people who break the law, and they don't do anything about it. They sit on the side of the road. I think the police should spend more time on the side streets instead of the main streets. Especially where there are the no parking signs.

Fox Lake

Crime of passion

People who think, realize personal gun ownership/right to bear arms philosophy kills more innocent people than criminals do. If you guns owners really, sincerely think about it, you will come to the same conclusion. All guns do is give you a false security. When you own a gun you are not a hero. More often you are an accident or crime of passion waiting to happen.

Libertyville

Garbage cans

I live in Heritage area of Grayslake, but I feel I am speaking for all neighbors everywhere when I say, please put those ugly brown garbage cans and recycling bins in your garage or in the backside of your homes like the rest of us do. It doesn't add to the appearance of your home, plus being considerate of your neighbors would be appreciated since we are the ones who have to look at it.

Grayslake

You did great!

To the Spring Grove youth basketball team of the Spring Grove elementary school. Congratulations on all of the winning you have done. You kids were great. To the green team, you played three very exhausting games April 4. You were a great challenge to the black team. I congratulate you. You did great. I am proud of you.

Neighbor wars

When we moved to this area, we didn't know that we had no rights. It's seems to be okay for our neighbors to cut our trees, run their water on our properties, let there dogs lose on our lawn, cut our grass so their yards look bigger, to harass us while we are out in our yard and put a playset under our nose. Get real. No wonder countries can't get along. Neighbors can't get along.

Startling

A letter to the editor on March 27, provided me with a lot of startling information. After that cold, January 1996 evening, when more than three quarters of those persons who showed up indicated there disapproval of Rte. 53 extension, I found out we are now to have a IDOT field office promoting Rte. 53. And on top of this, our mayor approves! Judging from the results of the March 1998 election, Lake County residents want whatever-natural resources and open places to be preserved, and no blacktopped and built with homes, let alone a tollway. Can't anyone hear what we are saying?

Mundelein

Look around

I see that since recreation center in Grayslake was turned down twice, and now they have a new central park development. Of course they are insisting on having that approval even there. I also noticed new members joined the Grayslake Board to help Mayor Carey to find out the fate of $10 million dollars. I guess if Mayor Carey and her trustees walk or drive around the village I am sure they can find out very many good uses for that $10 million dollars, instead of burning a hole in her purse.

Hainesville

Wetlands

There is much talk about preserving wetlands, though it seems the former wetlands that surround the Chain O'Lakes are never considered. The area is about the size of the lakes themselves. We never have frogs, muskrats or turtles. The reason for it, is lowering of the lakes every fall. This is another case of man interfering with nature. The land dries up and the little animals cannot exist. Also the Muskrat froze to death when the water left their houses. People should have never built in the floods plains to begin with and now they complain about the water.

The Seven C's of Admirable Character

My favorite definition of character is that it is how a person acts when no one else is looking. Our character is our moral and ethical strength.

You cannot buy admirable character with money, influence it with fame or pervert it with power. It is valuable, desirable and achievable. No one is born with admirable character. You build it one thought, one action and one habit at a time.

Character Cords

• Courage—Mark Twain said, "Courage is resistance to fear, mastering of fear—not absence of fear." Courage lets you face fearful circumstances. Courage lets you stand firm when you want to run. It is easy to be brave when you're not near the battle. Courage allows you to face all of life's battles.

• Consistency—I hired a secretary once who claimed she could type 60 words per minute. Her typing was awful. When I asked her about her claim she said simply, "I can type 60 words per minute. Some words...some minutes." A common bond you will find among men and women of admirable character is that their actions produce consistent, reliable results day-by-day.

• Common Sense—Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Common sense is genius dressed in its working clothes." The real problem with common sense is that it isn't all that common. The ability to make sound decisions based on inherent good judgment and natural logic is rare. Yet, it is common in people with admirable character.

• Cooperative—The dictionary defines cooperative as "marked by a willingness to work together for a common end or purpose." A person of character will always be a team player. This doesn't mean that a person who possesses character will do anything that any other group or individual desires. Any activity undertaken must meet his or her ethical standards.

• Commitment—When a reporter asked CBS news anchor, Walter Cronkite, about his success he replied, "I can't imagine a person becoming a success who doesn't give this game of life everything he's got." When a person of admirable character pledges to do something, it is a commitment. They keep going until stopped, then they start again and keep going. Where there is no way, they find a way. They are flexible in finding solutions. Being committed is not the same as being stupidly stubborn.

• Contentment—The inmate wrote the letter from prison. His upcoming trial would likely bring the death sentence. Yet, in his letter he wrote, "I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." You can read the rest of St. Paul's words in Philippians, Chapter Four.

John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, uttered these words with his dying breath, "This is the last of earth! I am content." The real measure of a person of admirable character is his or her ability to enjoy life regardless of the circumstances.

Lake County has 400 summer jobs

Youth employment program offers opportunities for 14-21 year olds

By LESLIE PIOTROWSKI
Staff Reporter

With summer just around the corner, young people throughout Lake County are beginning to look for summer jobs. But job-hunting poses challenges for most teenagers. Many don't know where to look or what kind of positions are best-suited for them. The Private Industry Council and the Lake County Board have a solution. They jointly administer the Summer Youth Employment Program (SYEP).

The program is designed to provide youth between the ages of 14 and 21 with both academic enrichment and a job program that prepares them for future careers. "We help students find a job program that matches their skills and interests," says Bob Farmer, SYEP manager. "These jobs can really help young people determine their interests and begin charting a career path that is right for them."

Each year, approximately 400 young people enroll in the program. Participants typically attend academic enrichment classes, where they learn resume writing and computer skills, in the morning, and work at a job site, where they apply their skills, in the afternoon. Each participant receives a stipend of $4.75 per hour for attending classes and $5.15 per hour for working at a job site. "This is a great way for teenagers to earn $1,000 over the course of the summer," says Farmer.

Farmer is currently recruiting young people for the summer program that will run from June 15 through August 14. He also is looking for not-for-profit organizations who are in need of summer help, particularly libraries, forest preserves, park districts, churches and hospitals. While SYEP provides the labor at no cost to the participating organizations, the organizations are responsible for providing insurance and supervising the participants. SYEP counselors regularly visit the job sites to monitor the participants.

The types of positions the participants undertake include clerical, computer and janitorial work. "Whatever the position, the focus is on helping participants learn good work habits and develop into better citizens," says Farmer.

Organizations currently involved in the program include Aviation One, Allendale Association, Lambs Farm, the Lake County Urban League, North Chicago Community High School, North Shore Academy, Special Education District of Lake County, SER/Jobs for Progress, Inc., and the Waukegan Community School District 60.

Young people interested in the program should contact Carol Givens at (847) 249-2200. Organizations interested in providing a job site for participants should contact Bob Farmer by the end of April at (847) 249-2200.

Consumers Cooperative Credit Union will have a grand opening for its new Round Lake Beach facility April 9, 10, 11 with an open house for the public. Special giveaways and prizes will be featured.

Consumers Cooperative Credit Union expands in Round Lake Beach

Consumers Cooperative Credit Union has expanded into a 15,000 square foot three story light brick building at the intersection of Route 83 and Monaville Road in Round Lake Beach.

William Reidel, president, said the expansion of the institution was done to meet the financial service needs of residents in Round Lake Beach and other nearby rapidly growing areas. He stated that although Consumers is nearly 70 years old, the new building has a contemporary design to complement its modern services.

He said a small 3,200 square foot facility in the village has accounted for approximately 20 percent of all the transactions of the credit union headquartered in Waukegan with a large branch office in Mundelein.

Reidel noted that assets of Consumers increased last year to $1290 million from $168 million in 1996 and that the number of members grew to 38,920 last year from less than 38,000 the year before. He said Consumers is the tenth largest credit union in Illinois out of 661 in the state.

The new facility features five drive-up service lanes and a convenient

Cash Station with a large parking lot. The president said full financial services are provided in the Round Lake Beach unit for deposits, savings that include IRA's and certificates of deposits, home mortgage, auto and other kinds of loans.

Other advantages of working with Consumers, according to Reidel, is that customers or members, as they are called at Consumers, can enjoy discount shopping at Sam's Club and at places of entertainment such as the Milwaukee Zoo and Great America.

Accounts in Consumers Cooperative Credit Union are insured up to $250,000 by American Share Insurance. The credit union was organized in 1930 in the Great Depression and has successfully grown since that time. One of the members of the first board of directors, Kaarin Luhtala, is thriving at age 94.

Reidel said that people use credit unions such as Consumers because there are low to no fees, savings interest rates are high, service is excellent and, with a leading edge technology program in computers at Consumers,

Several departments within Consumers will move into the newly constructed building. These are accounting, marketing, training, which he described as extensive, and a telephone center (in the works). The loan department eventually will be enlarged at this location.

Architect for the building is The Hezner Corp., Highland Park; construction manager was Kimbar, Inc., Libertyville. Address of the new office is 2626 N. Route 83, Round Lake Beach, IL 60073.

For information, call Martha Castilo at 847/623-3636, extension 8830 or Dan Friedlander at 847/295-6444.

Recently, Mid-Way Supply, Inc., an authorized distributor of Trane equipment, presented All Temp Heating and Air Conditioning located in Wauconda, IL. with the 1997 President's Achievement Award.

This award is given to dealers in the northern Illinois and Indiana regions who achieve a significant increase in sales above the previous year. Commenting on the award, Frank Weiland, Marketing and Sales Manager for Trane equipment sales, said, "This award recognized All Temp Heating and Air Conditioning and their commitment to the quality equipment that Trane manufactures."

"Trane has been rated as the #1 brand for quality by 'The News' and is the most recognized brand name in the HVAC industry. All Temp Heating and Air Conditioning should be very proud of their accomplishments this past year."

All Temp Heating and A/C, a growing company with highly trained personnel, is a family owned company that has been serving the Chicagoland area for over 50 years. They employ 40 people, have 22 trucks on the road and specialize in residential and commercial projects. They take pride in their company, workmanship and competitive pricing.

April 15 is approaching: Last-minute filing tips

Attention all last-minute filers! There's only a little over one week left in the tax filing season, and nearly half of you still haven't filed your 1997 Federal tax returns. Since most mistakes are made when you're in a hurry, I have some tips for you to follow.

First, it's extremely important to make sure you enter the correct social security numbers (SSNs) on your tax return. Make sure you enter the correct SSN for each dependent you claim. Also be certain that the name you enter matches the name on your dependent's Social Security card. Don't use nicknames. If a name has changed due to marriage or divorce, be sure to report the change to the Social Security Administration before using the new name on your tax return.

Second, allow enough time to complete your return, so you can set it aside and pick it up a day or two (or even an hour or two) later and recheck it. You could be surprised at the number of mistakes you find when you look at it again.

The most common mistakes people make when they're in a hurry include math errors, picking up the wrong tax from the tax tables, claiming the wrong filing status, miscalculating the earned income tax credit, entering items on the wrong line, and forgetting to attach the W-2, Wage and Tax Statement, or other necessary schedules to the return. And every year there are lots of people who forget to sign their return. Remember, if it's a joint return, we need the signature of both spouses.

If you know you won't have all the information needed to complete and file your return by the April 15 deadline, plan to request an extension. Complete and mail Form 4868, Application for Automatic Extension of Time to File U.S. Individual Income Tax Return, by April 15, and get an automatic four-month extension of time to file. You then have until August 15 to send in your completed return. However, you still must estimate your tax liability on Form 4868. It's also best to pay any additional tax you owe with your extension request.

If you complete your return or an extension and find you owe money, but can't pay, file anyway. The penalty for failure to file a timely tax return is 10 times greater than the penalty for failing to pay on time.

Pay as much as you can when you file your return and we'll bill you for the rest. Then you can pay the remaining amount when you receive the bill. If you're still unable to pay the amount owed, be sure to contact us when you get the bill to make payment arrangements.

If the amount you owe is more than you can borrow from family, friends or the bank (at lower interest rates than the IRS charges), you can request a monthly installment agreement by completing and attaching Form 9465, Installment Agreement Request, to your return. You'll be notified if your request is accepted. There's an additional charge for setting up an installment agreement, and penalties and interest will continue to accumulate until the tax bill is paid in full.

Finally, don't ignore us! Your problem doesn't go away and your tax bill will get larger.—By Robert W. Brock, IRS District Director

TAYLOR: Seven C's of character

• Charity—This word has two main meanings: 1) To give to others, and 2) to love. People of admirable character blend both into one. To them, charity means that they love God so much that they express that love by helping others.

They do not give reluctantly, but cheerfully. They not only give cheerfully, but adequately. They not only give adequately, but anonymously. They not only give anonymously, but they give to enable others to acquire the ability to become self-supporting thereby eliminating the need for charity altogether.

Yes, our character is our moral and ethical strength. Guard it carefully. It is much easier to maintain it, than to regain it.

Schwartzkopf, Trump, Lovell, & Ditka headline 'American Dream '98'

Some of America's most influential and successful motivational speakers will participate in "American Dream '98," the country's first Interactive Global Success and Motivational Conference on Tuesday, April 28, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., at the Rosemont Horizon.

The dream team includes General H. Norman Schwarzkopf, Desert Storm's commander-in-chief; Donald Trump, one of the world's top real estate tycoons and entrepreneurs; James Lovell, Apollo 13 astronaut who inspired a nation with his courage; Mike Ditka, Hall of Fame tight end and Super Bowl-winning coach; Deborah Norville, award-winning TV network journalist; and Gene Siskel and Roger Ebert, America's most popular movie critics.

Additional speakers include Joe Girard, the Guinness Book's "Greatest Salesman," and Joseph Sugarman, the founder of the BluBlocker sunglass company who helped introduce innovative products such as the pocket calculator, the digital watch and the cordless phone.

"What we have attempted to do is put together the most timely and successful motivational speakers available," said Mark Childers, one of the conference organizers. "These inspirational personalities not only epitomize the American dream but continue to make headlines in today's news.

"The all-star lineup includes General H. Norman Schwarzkopf, whose role as commander in the Gulf War is again current because of the turmoil in Iraq; Donald Trump, with his recent comeback and the impending sale of his gambling empire; James Lovell, with the upcoming release of Apollo 13 to home video; Mike Ditka, who attends just 10 days after making his draft picks for the New Orleans Saints; Deborah Norville, in the midst of a career comeback; and Siskel and Ebert, on how they made it and the lessons they learned."

Conference attendees will gain valuable insight from some of America's most powerful figures in the business, political and sporting worlds. Participants can also receive a program book filled with speaker profiles, goal-setting tips and $100 worth of free gift coupons, and join in an interactive audience approach that will be introduced for the first time at this event.

Tickets are limited and start at $49.95. All seats are reserved and group discounts are available. For information or to register, call 1-800-INSPIRE (467-7473).

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Act now to lower your '98 tax bill

As you get ready to write that check to the IRS, you may be asking yourself, "What was all that excitement over the new Taxpayer Relief Act?"

True, the new tax laws didn't do much for your 1997 tax bill — but you should see some benefits when you file your return next year. Many of the provisions took effect Jan. 1, 1998, so now is the time to make any changes that could lower your tax bill next year.

Here are some of the benefits of the new law:

IRAs. Starting this year, taxpayers have three IRA options: traditional deductible IRAs, Roth IRAs and nondeductible IRAs.

Deductible IRAs are available for people not covered by employer-sponsored plans, as well as for those covered by such plans but whose adjusted gross income (AGI) falls under certain limits. The new tax law not only raised these limits starting in 1998, but also allows spouses to make fully deductible IRA contributions regardless of whether their spouse has a plan at work, as long as their AGI is below $150,000.

If you can't make a deductible IRA contribution, you may find a Roth IRA more appropriate. Although contributions aren't deductible, withdrawals can generally be taken tax- and penalty-free, as long as the money has been in the account five years and you're 59-1/2 or older or meet certain withdrawal requirements. However, the Roth is available only to couples with total adjusted gross income up to $150,000 ($95,000 for singles).

Those who don't qualify for a deductible or Roth IRA can still enjoy the benefits of a nondeductible IRA — namely, tax-deferred growth of your savings.

If you're considering switching funds from a traditional to a Roth IRA, you'll owe taxes, but if you convert this year, you can spread your tax liability over the next four years.

Capital gains. The top tax rate on capital gains is now 20 percent for investments you've owned more than 18 months and sold after May 7, 1997 (10 percent for those in the 15 percent bracket). The old top rate of 28 percent still applies to investments held more than a year but not more than 18 months. And gains on investments held less than a year are taxed as ordinary income.

If your portfolio is overweighted with one type of investment or industry, or if you own investments that no longer meet your objectives, the lower tax rates may provide an opportunity to reposition your assets.

Education savings. Starting this year, taxpayers can contribute up to $500 per year after taxes to education savings accounts for each child up to age 18. Earnings in the account grow tax-deferred, and withdrawals are tax-free if taken for qualified education expenses.

If your kids are close to or already in college, the savings account is probably not appropriate, but you do have two new tax credits. The Hope credit can cut your taxes by up to $1,500 a year per student for tuition during the first two years of college. The lifetime learning credit lets you take up to $1,000 a year off your tax bill. It can be claimed for any year in which you don't take the Hope credit for the same student.

Paying off a student loan? You can now deduct student-loan interest in the first five years of a loan payback, up to $1,000 in 1998. This limit will increase each year, reaching $2,500 in 2001. The deduction, however, is only available to joint filers earning less than $80,000 ($40,000 for singles).

These are just a few of the new tax laws. Other provisions include lower taxes on home-sale profits, an increase in the estate-tax exclusion and child tax credits. Consult your tax adviser today to see how you can take advantage of the new tax laws, and maybe next April 15 will be a little more pleasant.

Most Americans are headed for debt disaster

"Get Completely Out of Debt" is a comprehensive seminar that shows people how to get completely out of debt—how to operate 100 percent on cash, never using credit again—and how to build retirement wealth with the money they had been wasting on debt payments. It will be held at the Best Western Regency Inn, 350 W. Route 173, Antioch, on Saturday, April 18, at 9 a.m.

This seminar will show, step-by-step, how a person can pay-off every penny of their debt (including their home mortgage) in about five to seven years, how they can live 100 percent on cash and how they can simply and safely build their wealth, so they end up in the four percent who can retire in comfort.

The seminar leader is Sherry Mikrut, a certified Financial Independence Seminar leader with Financial Independence Network Limited, a three-time Inc. 500 Corporation. Financial Independence Network Limited (FINL) is an international publisher of personal finance books, videos, audio cassettes, newsletters, software as well as personal consultations and seminars.

The primary reason why most people end their working life with little to show is that the bulk of the wealth they produced over their lifetime has been methodically and systematically siphoned away from them. Their mortgage company, bank, insurance companies, credit card companies, finance companies, and the government have all stuck siphon hoses into their ability to produce wealth and have sucked out hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Everyone attending this seminar will leave with a complete, individual debt-elimination plan that will show them how to pay-off their bills—and tell them WHEN they'll be DEBT-FREE.

For registration or more information, call Sherry Mikrut at 740-9178, ext. 1. Cost is $39 at the door, or $29 at pre-registration.

Charles L. Wertz

Age 86 of Antioch, passed away Thursday, April 2, 1998 at his home. A lifelong resident of Antioch, Charles was born on June 26, 1911, the son of the late Clayton and Freida (Singer) Wertz. Charles attended Antioch Grade School and Antioch High School graduating in 1929. He later served on the grade school board for 12 years and as the president of the board for one year. In the early 30s, he attended the Milwaukee School of Engineering. He was a lifelong member of the United Methodist Church of Antioch and was involved in and belonged to many of the local organizations including the Antioch Lions Club, Loyal Order of the Moose Lodge 525 of Antioch, Ducks Unlimited, the Antioch Historical Society, a charter member of the NICC, an avid trap shooter and also was a member of the Sequoia Masonic Lodge 827 AF & AM in Antioch for 48 years.

As a licensed water well contractor in Illinois and Wisconsin, he drilled and logged over 3,000 drinking water wells. In 1943, he helped to locate the well field, east of Antioch which to this day provides the majority of the water serving the local community. As a member of the Environmental Committee, he was a successful and significant spokesman against the dumping of hazardous waste near the water well site, contributing to the closing of the dump and protecting the drinking water supply for Antioch residents.

In August of 1966, he was profiled in a feature article of the Water Well Journal for his 65 years of drilling. Charles became a licensed amateur radio operator in 1931, later earning the highest class license of an amateur radio—The Extra Class. Both of his sons are licensed "hams" as well as one of his grand daughters. Charles was a member of the LAMARS Radio Club of Mundelein.

In February of 1997, Charles was honored by the induction into the Antioch High School Hall of Fame, having participated in track, discus, football, baseball and basketball during his years in high school. He was the captain of the basketball team when they became champions of the Northwest Conference Tournament in 1928.

Charles is survived by his wife, Dorothy (nee Blair) of 63 years; four children, Marlene (Paul) Clawson of Savannah, Geo., Donald (Judy) of Blue Ridge, Tex., Robert (Norma) of Flagstaff, Ariz. and Mary (Ron) Cunningham of Antioch. He is also survived by eight grandchildren, nine great grandchildren and many, many, many friends. He is preceded in death by one sister, Blanch, and two brothers, Wesley and Arthur.

Funeral services were held at the Strang Funeral Home of Antioch, with the Pastor Kurt Gamlin of the United Methodist Church of Antioch, officiating.

Interment was at Hillside Cemetery, Antioch.

In lieu of flowers, those desiring may make contributions to the Antioch Historical Society or the United Methodist Church of Antioch in his memory.

"ADORABLE DORA"

"Dora" is a very young, small mid-size, mostly shepherd mix female. Just a year old, she is still a puppy at heart and possesses all the charm and playfulness that accompanies a puppy-like temperament. Dora has a rich, short brown/black brindle coat, perk ears and a sweet face. Eminently trainable and smart, Dora will quickly learn whatever you want to teach her and she will provide the loyal and lively companionship that shepherd mixes are known and loved for. Because Dora is lively and active, we recommend a fenced yard so she can run and play and fetch to her heart's content. If you like shepherds but want a smaller version, Dora may be what you have been hoping for. This terrific dog has been at Orphans since February of 1997, and she is tail-wagging anxious to find the loving home and family she needs.

ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING/OBEDIENCE TRAINING WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED THE FIRST YEAR WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY IF NEEDED.

Cash $55 donation includes free spay/neuter, collar, tag, leash, first shots, follow up care and much more.

Orphans of the Storm is located at 2200 Riverwoods Rd., Deerfield. Hours are 11 am - 5 pm, seven days a week. Call (847) 945-0235 for further information.

CHELSEA AND J.J. are just 8 mos old and are some of the most unusual and lovable pups to come our way!

Mom of these two adorables is a cockapoo and dad was a visiting husky! The result is two pups with unusual fur. Lovely silver to black coloring and the distinctive eyes of a Husky. The pups seem to have combined the best of both mom & dad! They both adore people. Are very clean and quick to learn. These are unusual and small and will not last long!

The Assisi Animal Foundation has fine cat and dog companions available for responsible and permanent homes. Adopt a pet from McHenry County's no-kill, cageless and award winning sanctuary!

If you're an adult that loves animals and would like to help them, join the volunteer crew of the Assisi Animal Foundation! Just two hours any morning of the week with great people in cheerful surroundings. Volunteers are welcome and needed.

Call the Assisi Animal Foundation for adoptions, volunteering or information at (815) 455-9411. You'll be glad you did!

Ask The Vet

Ask The Vet. Dr. David Trask is part of a group of northern Lake County veterinarians who pooled their money and expertise to start All Creatures Emergency Hospital in Grayslake providing emergency care to pets nights, weekends and holidays. During the day he can be reached at Lindenhurst Animal Hospital.

Question: I have 1 cat that purrs and 1 cat that never purrs, why is that?

Answer: All cats seem to have the ability to purr, some seem to choose not to. Extensive research has been done on this topic but no one seems to have been able to come up with an answer on exactly why this takes place. It has been found that cats seem to purr more frequently when they are relaxed or content, but this is not to say that if your cat doesn't purr that it is not happy and content.

Lake County's Largest Chrysler-Plymouth Dodge-Dodge Truck Dealer!

Was Your Suspension Damaged By Winter Potholes?

alignment check

Includes front end adjustments and rear end on car adjustments

* Additional parts or shims, see service advisor for pricing.
* On most cars & trucks.

- Check Shocks • Check Wheel Alignment
- Check Struts • Check Ride Height

A damaged or worn-out suspension system can cause unnecessary expense by permitting other vehicle parts to wear out before their time. Protect yourself against additional costs by making an appointment to bring your vehicle in for a 4-wheel alignment check.
